JAPAN HAS AN ANTI-RUSSIAN ORGANIZATION

Communist Crowds Shout Opposition to Imperial Rule As New Group Assails Reds

PRISONERS RELEASED

Tokyo, Oct. 10.—(P)—Liberated political-prisoners emerged from behind the massive walls of four Japanese prisons today to the acclaim of welcoming Communist crowds shouting opposition to imperial rule—while a newly-formed National Federation of Toilers arose to defend the imperial house and assails the reds.

The Japanese navy's chief paymaster, Vice Adm. Ushinosuke Yamamoto, meanwhile disclosed that the navy's impounded fortune of several million dollars was acquired from conquered nations and from the Japanese people themselves, and was paid for abroad in new-worthless military currency and at home in promissory notes which never were redeemed.

Promoters of the newly-created federation resolved to "wage a determined fight against Communism which aims at extermination of our unique national polity under the emperor."

The federation and another group favoring a drastic overhaul of the Japanese diet rose suddenly in uneasy Nippon today as the new liberal premier, Baron Kijuro Shidehara, told his people in a broadcast:

"The hold of the military clique and bureaucrats on political power has been broken and all politics and economies will be determined by the will of the majority."

Sixteen liberated prisoners came through the big wooden gate in main prison's massive stone wall today to be hoisted immediately to the shoulders of a cheering crowd of 300 Japanese Communists and Koreans.

Shouting "Banzai for the release of fighters of the people's front," the crowd waved red flags and Korean independence flags—then listened quietly while Communist Kyuchi Tokuda urged overthrow of the imperial system.

"The imperial system is the root of all evils," he asserted. Tokuda spent 18 years in prison for voicing such thoughts—before General MacArthur's directives and Shidehara's new liberality gave him immunity.

Three other prisons, Kosuge, Toyotama and Tokyo Koshiso, also opened on the October 10 day set by MacArthur. Many of their political prisoners had been held without charge for 10 to 20 years, after they had advocated Communism or had spoken against the ruling Japanese government.

The 16 freed from Fuchu heard the crowd sing lustily in the rain what a Korean called "The Song of the Red Flag." The prisoners were shabby khaki, but appeared well fed. They were taken by automobile to Hibiy Park in downtown.

Frau Kramer Is Witness In Trial

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Luenburg, Germany, Oct. 10.—(P)—Frau Josef Kramer testified under cross examination today that her husband naturally realized that the gassing of concentration camp internees was "very wrong."

Kramer and 44 guards and attendants are on trial before a British military court for mass killings at Belsen. A defense attempt to inject discussion of the atomic bomb into the hearing was balked by the court which ruled it had nothing to do with the questions at issue.

A small woman, the mother of three, Frau Kramer wore a velvet hat jauntily. She took an oath on the bible. She smiled at Kramer, told of their marriage Oct. 16, 1937, and said she had been with him at all times at the camps in which he was an officer.

THE WORK STOPPAGE SITUATION IN PENNSYLVANIA AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press
Soft coal—194 mines closed, 58,467 men idle, an increase of 1,300 over yesterday, in the mine supervisory strike which started in Pennsylvania and has spread to six states.

Steel—as a result of coal strike, U. S. Steel announces closing tonight of four more blast furnaces for a total of 17; some 58 open hearths down. Carnegie-Illinois Steel furnishes 1,300 more workers for a total of 4,000 to 4,300 at Farrell, Homestead and Duquesne. Workers at Pressed Steel Car Co., McKees Rocks, voted to continue strike which has made 3,000 idle.

Oil—state labor mediator meets labor and management in CIO oil workers to their jobs in Venango county.

Transportation—200 truck drivers walk out, halting virtually all freight and express hauling in Wyoming Valley. The workers want higher pay.

300 Telephone Employees At Annual "Get-Together" Held In YWCA Tuesday Evening

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has begun a large state-wide construction and installation program designed to eliminate as quickly as possible its "waiting lists" of applications for telephone service which could not be filled because of war-caused shortages. J. Frank Cox, vice president and general manager of the company, said last night.

He spoke at the annual "get-together" of approximately 300 telephone employees and members of their families in the Warren YWCA. Many employees from this vicinity attended. Horace M. Stevenson, district manager, was chairman.

Mr. Cox pointed out that three different kinds of telephone facilities are required to furnish service. They are telephone instruments, cable or wire to connect telephones to the central office, and central office switching equipment such as switchboards and associated apparatus.

"Shortage of telephone instruments has been one of the principal reasons for our large waiting lists," he said. But, fortunately, this situation is being relieved very rapidly.

"As more telephones become available and we are enabled to reduce the number of deferred applications held for instruments, shortages of outside plant—such as cable and wire—and central office equipment, become controlling factors. Then, the problems to be solved become much more difficult."

Ex-Vichy Official Faces Firing Squad

Paris, Oct. 10.—(P)—A firing squad of 172 French soldiers executed Joseph Darnand, former chief of the Vichy militia, at Fort de Châtillon at 9:40 a. m. today.

Darnand was convicted of treason on Sept. 13 by the same court which yesterday pronounced sentence of death upon his superior, Pierre Laval.

A Dominican priest, Darnand's lawyer, a doctor and two magistrates were in the small group which witnessed the execution. Just before the shots were fired, Darnand cried out:

"Vive Le France! Farewell, my militiamen."

Produce—AFL Commission urges Drivers and Produce Workers Union tighten picket lines in 14-day-old strike at Pittsburgh Produce Yards; produce dealers in Altoona, Johnstown and Youngstown (Ohio) report notification by union their workers will be called out to strike if they load trucks for Pittsburgh.

State police and deputy coroner Peter Meltrius said Miller gave this story of the crash:

Driving home from Bradford, Miller dozed off while the car was going down a steep hill. Clipping off a string of guard rail posts, the machine hurtled 30 feet over a stream, bounced over a 15-foot embankment, and came to a stop upside down against a tree.

"Prepare or Perish" Gen. Marshall Warns Nation in Biennial Report

ARMY REGIME TAKES OVER IN ARGENTINA

Navy Reported Demanding That Entire Government Quit and Turn Nation Over to Supreme Court

SITUATION CONFUSES

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Buenos Aires, Oct. 10.—(P)—The army ruled Argentina today after forcing the resignation of the strong-man vice president, Col. Juan Domingo Peron, but the navy was reported demanding that the entire government quit and turn the nation over to the supreme court.

The situation in stormy Argentina was confused, but this much was clear, Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, head of the military regime, still is president, but he takes his orders from bulky, cigar-chewing Gen. Eduardo AVALOS, commander of the big Campo de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires, whose personal quarrel with Peron brought about the military's demand for the resignation of the vice president.

A high navy officer told The Associated Press Peron's resignation alone was insufficient, since it left unsettled the essential problem—the existence of the military government. But there was reason to believe the army and navy could come to terms.

Juan Cooke, Farrell's foreign minister, announced the cabinet would meet today.

The Campo garrison, from whence in June, 1943, Gen. Arturo Rawson overthrew the government of Ramon Castillo and became president for two days, had been Peron's chief support. It turned against him yesterday amid the storm of opposition to his military rule which had been gathering fury for weeks.

The trial of Mrs. Florence Randall, 37, auburn-haired mother of two daughters, on similar charges was scheduled to begin after a short court recess.

Utah Village Is Menaced By Blasts In Mine

Vernal, Utah, Oct. 10.—(P)—Two distinct explosions from the heart of the large Bonanza Gilsonite mine rocked the earth for a distance of 50 miles last night but miraculously spared the 250 residents of Bonanza, isolated mining town near the Utah-Colorado border.

Flames destroyed utility buildings adjacent to the mine shaft and mineral treating plant. Virtually all houses and community buildings of the modern mining town, however, were undamaged.

Residents fled Bonanza when a warning was issued that the entire community faced inevitable destruction. When the mine blaze was controlled most of them returned to their homes.

Ronald Freese, Utah county sheriff, led a volunteer rescue crew of 100 men from Vernal to the explosion scene, 50 miles away. Some heavy timbers from the bottom of the mile-deep mine shaft were showered over Bonanza by the force of the explosion.

Cause of the blast was not determined immediately.

Gilsonite is a black hydrocarbon with a smooth ebony-like surface. Although its properties make it useful as a fuel practical, it also serves as a source of fireproof insulation materials. Peculiar to western Colorado and eastern Utah, it has been used for years in the manufacture of high grade paints and varnishes.

Strikes at a Glance

By the Associated Press
Expected reduction of nation's strike lines to under 400,000 this week backed in new labor disputes increase idle to around 460,000.

Major trouble spots:
Coal—Showdown expected in government sponsored conferences aimed to settle critical coal strike.

Shipping—Continuing strike of New York longshoremen leaves world's busiest harbor virtually idle.

Motion pictures—Appeals made to President Truman, Governor Warren of California and AFL President William Green to lend aid in effecting settlement of long AFL jurisdictional dispute.

Automotive—Negotiations reopened in Detroit between CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler in union's demand for 30 per cent wage increase.

Lumber—No major developments in walkout of 61,700 AFL lumber workers in five Pacific northwest states.

No Change Planned In MacArthur's Post

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—The United States has called a meeting of a proposed Far Eastern Advisory Commission for October 23 in Washington, but intends to make no change in General Douglas MacArthur's post as supreme commander in Japan.

Secretary of State Byrnes announced the meeting today, saying that invitations had gone out to nine other governments and that India may be included at Britain's suggestion.

Simultaneously, Byrnes disclosed Russia had suggested that creation of the advisory commission be preceded by establishment of a control council for Japan.

Tunkhannock Lumberjack Found Guilty

BULLETIN

Tunkhannock, Oct. 10.—(P)—Attractive, auburn-haired Mrs. Florence Randall, scheduled to be tried for the murder of her husband, Charles, was released in $500 bail today as the commonwealth decided against pressing the charges shortly after he allegedly paramour, Kenneth Ferrell, was convicted with a recommendation of life imprisonment.

Tunkhannock, Oct. 10.—(P)—Kenneth Ferrell, illiterate 31-year-old lumberjack, today was convicted of murder and a sentence of life imprisonment recommended by a jury of seven men and five women who heard his trial for the "triangle" killing of Charles Randall last Memorial Day.

The trial of Mrs. Florence Randall, 37, auburn-haired mother of two daughters, on similar charges was scheduled to begin after a short court recess.

Staff Chief Urges Trained Citizen-Army for Country

Terrifying New Weapons to Cope With Menace of Scientific Mass Destruction Require Intense Research

CAN NOW GUIDE ROCKETS ACCURATELY

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—General Marshall cautioned Americans today that a rich nation which lays down its arms in this age of terrifying and fantastic new weapons courts catastrophe.

The chief of staff said the United States should maintain a regular army, national guard and reserve of trained civilians so huge it could mobilize 4,000,000 men within a year.

It should not stint funds for intensive scientific research, Marshall asserted in his biennial report to the secretary of war, at a time when methods of attack hitherto unpublished may subject New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago or San Francisco to a rain of annihilation from points thousands of miles from this continent.

Here is what Marshall thinks this country should do:

Provide money and means for continuous research into the military ramifications of man's scientific advance.

Provide a permanent peacetime citizen army built around a corps of men who have received one year of compulsory military training.

Encourage the National Guard—It is "in the first category of importance" in the citizen army.

Maintain a regular army composed primarily of a strategic force, with emphasis on air power, part of it deployed in the Pacific and Caribbean.

Keep the training program abreast of technical developments and the resulting modifications of tactics.

"To prevent another international catastrophe," Marshall declared, "there is no alternative but that this nation must be prepared to defend its interest against any nation or combination of nations which might sometime feel powerful enough to attempt settlement of political arguments or gain resources or territory by force of arms."

In the past, he said, "we have ignored the hard realities of world affairs. We have been purely idealistic."

Marshall insisted that any hope for lasting peace must be predicated on the ability to enforce it with strength. He said the state department believes that a decision now to adopt universal military training would be a step toward lasting peace.

House Group Seeks Speedy Action on Atomic Control

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—Congress struggled today to devise firm controls over atomic energy at home and to keep this country in the forefront of scientific discoveries the world around.

A new note of urgency was lent the task by a warning from army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall in his biennial report that the possibilities of the future are terrifying.

Here, on both sides of the capitol, is how the two-fold problem is being tackled:

1. The house military committee went into secret session under a charge from Chairman May (D-Ky.) to speed action toward setting up a program for control of atomic power.

Specifically before the group is President Truman's week-old request that congress set up a nine member commission to handle all domestic phases of science's newest and most sensational discovery.

NATION-WIDE STRIKE IDLE CUT 42,000

CIO Textile Print and Dye Workers In 284 Shops In Three States Return To Work

418,000 ARE STILL OUT

By the Associated Press

The nationwide total of persons away from work because of labor troubles was reduced by 42,000 today with the settlement of a three-state strike of textile workers.

The reduction left the number off the job in various industries at 418,000.

At the same time Secretary of Labor Schwelbensch was hopeful of ending the critical strikes in the soft coal fields which would enable some 182,000 workers to resume digging in 749 closed mines.

The strike of 42,000 Textile Print and Dye Workers in 284 shops in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania ended with a union-management agreement to a 10 cents an hour wage increase for men and five cents for women. The wage question cannot be reopened until Nov. 1, 1946.

In the soft coal dispute, which has cut into steel production, the secretary of labor was ready to offer a new compromise proposal to bituminous operators and United Mine Workers officials headed by President John L. Lewis.

Schwelbensch said they should be able to agree.

Lewis' proposal to end the strike if the operators would negotiate on the recognition issue was not fully accepted by the operators who, said their willingness to negotiate would not be taken as any retreat from their position that foremen should not be unionized.

After the chief rejected their counter-plan, Schwelbensch prepared a revised proposal which he hoped would be acceptable to both sides and bring settlement of the 20-day old work stoppages in mines in six states.

Additional steelworkers were forced to quit work because of coal shortages and production in many mills was cut by the closing of blast furnaces and open hearths. Miners off their jobs by the strikes included 75,600 in West Virginia; 58,467 in Pennsylvania; 27,200 in Kentucky; 8,000 in Tennessee, and 5,000 in Indiana. With no coal to move, 50 trains and 300 employees on the Louisville & Nashville railroad in Kentucky were idle.

New York's crippling port-wide strike of 35,000 to 60,000 longshoremen left the world's busiest harbor virtually idle again today, the 10th day of the walkout in a dispute over a new contract. Thousands of tons of cargo went unmoved as 369 ships were tied up.

On the Pacific coast, 40 ships were idle at piers because of refusal of members of CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards Union to sign up under reduced personnel rules made by the WSA.

Tension mounted in the motion picture industry in Hollywood as AFL strike leaders said picketing will continue indefinitely "until Warner Brothers capitulate or close their studio, x x x."

Clashes between pickets and non-striking movie workers outside the studio have injured 111 persons. Production was halted.

Johnstown Hero Will Be Honored

Johnstown, Oct. 10.—(P)—Lt. Edward A. Silk, so modest he wouldn't even let the townspeople know when he was coming home, will get the Congressional Medal of Honor Friday.

The citation will tell how the 29-year-old ex-steelworker single-handedly wiped out a Nazi fortress in southern France. Armed with only his carbine and hand grenades, Silk went from room to room in a farmhouse stronghold, killing or capturing 17 Nazis.

A member of the 39th Infantry Regiment of the 100th Division, Seventh Army, Silk also holds the Silver Star.

Silk arrived here on terminal leave Friday and is with his wife, a daughter, Judith Ann, whom he saw for the first time, and a son Jerry.

His wife and two sisters will accompany him to Washington for the Congressional Medal presentation.

HIGHWAY FATALITY
Uniontown, Oct. 10.—(P)—A Smithfield girl who was trapped in a wrecked automobile for five hours yesterday, until rescue workers freed her with acetylene torches, died of her injuries today. The victim was Mary Evans, 19. A sailor's car, in which she was riding, struck a pole and plunged down an embankment near Smithfield. The sailor was slightly hurt.

Returning GI's Evince Interest In Out of Doors Recreations

As evidence that Forester R. F. Hemingway is not "barking up the wrong tree" when he urges Warren business men to provide for accommodation of visitors to this section by providing cabins, cottages and small hotels a recent poll taken by the American Legion Magazine can be cited. In this poll some astounding facts are revealed as to the love of the genuine American for the forests, fields and streams of his native land. And according to it can be pointed out the vicinity that is prepared to handle the great influx to the woodlands will be one that will profit most. And furthermore "he who serveth best will profit most".

It is further pointed out that the great out of doors attracts more money than any other form of sport. Compare with hunting and fishing baseball is a piker and golf is an also ran.

Returning veterans who have been polled by the magazine have voted 70 out of each 100 that they want to go fishing. And 62 of every 100 rate hunting next to fishing as their favorite recreation. Here's the score on the survey percentage-wise:

Hunting	69.33
Fishing	61.87
Swimming	56.04
Baseball	43.01

Football	32.29
Camping	31.61
Motorboating	29.38
Trapshooting	26.87
Skating	26.05
Golf	22.52
Hiking	19.54
Bicycling	15.47
Flying	14.52
Sailing	11.28
Skiing	9.93
Badminton	9.87
Archery	4.61
Basketball	4.21
Riding	2.81

A score or more other sports are mentioned.

Another survey indicates that in the next few post-war years more than 25 million people will hunt and fish, and that their annual expenditures will be something like $4,025,485,000.

There is nothing new or surprising about these figures. Several years ago a magazine of various economic groups from all sections of the country and learned they preferred hunting or fishing to watching sports events of all kinds combined.

The Dayton Miami Valley Outdoors Program was conceived last spring when The Dayton Journal-Herald found 90,000 people checked in at a lake 50 miles from Dayton on the same Sunday that the Reds performed before 90,000 persons in Cincinnati, 50 miles away.

On the same day, there were turnouts of 65,000, 32,000 and 48,000 at other adjacent lakes.

These figures did not include bank shermen on five streams flowing throughout that part of Ohio.

DANGER ON THE PRODUCTION FRONT

How Much Will You Have to Pay for Your New Car?

How Long Will You Have to Wait to Get It?

RECONVERSION BOGGING DOWN

Strikes are threatening the entire automobile industry. General Motors is being specifically singled out for attack to enforce unreasonable demands. Some of our plants have already been closed and shipment of materials from the plants of many of our suppliers has already been stopped by strikes.

The interests of all Americans should be considered. This is not only a General Motors problem. It is a national one as well. If our plants are closed by strikes the strikes will be against the interests of all the people of our country as much as they will be against General Motors.

AFTERMATH OF WAR

While the war is over, the aftermath of war presents big problems. War is terribly wasteful in blood and treasure. This one was especially so. It was not prosperity even though to some it may have seemed to be. And the immediate aftermath of such a war cannot be prosperity either. The clean-up, the mopping-up, the reconversion still require hard work, patience, understanding, and some sacrifice on the part of all of us.

INDUSTRY ON THE JOB

Our fighting men crushed our enemies with the huge quantity of weapons produced by American industry. But that is behind us. We would like to have been better prepared for peace, but the terrific demands of the war for men and materials did not make this possible. Now we have planned a second all-out effort and stand ready and anxious to do an equally impressive job.

PROBLEMS OF RECONVERSION

American industry has proved its ability to perform. It has the know-how, the resources, the courage to push ahead. But even with these fine assets it cannot do the job alone. It must have the goodwill and backing of the people of our country.

Our second all-out effort to meet a critical situation will bog down unless the real facts are recognized and sound measures promptly taken to solve the problems. Temporarily, while we are liquidating the war, there should be a sound national wage-price policy to stabilize and expand the economy.

DANGER OF INFLATION

The most serious threat we face is that of runaway inflation. The danger comes from three sources: first, the wartime and current tremendous deficit spending of our government; second, the pent-up demands for goods and services to the point where some are willing to pay excess prices even in black markets to satisfy their impatient and selfish desires; third, the desires of equally selfish unions to take advantage of the situation and force unreasonable wage increases.

Inflation is the worst of all economic diseases. It reduces the value of money in terms of what money will buy. It reduces the value of the savings of the people. It undermines security. It underwrites depression. It destroys confidence. It creates unemployment. Inflation must be avoided.

REAL PRICES

In a free market and in the absence of subsidies and speculation, the cost of human effort, be it in the form of wages, salaries or other forms of compensation, quickly determines the price we pay for goods.

Higher wages without a corresponding increase in productivity are inflationary. Nothing is gained unless higher wages mean more goods and services, more customers and more good jobs. This requires individual application to the job in hand and technological progress all along the line—better ways of doing all the things that must be done to produce and deliver products to customers at reasonable prices. This takes time.

A minority, by monopoly or by pressure group action, may temporarily profit at the expense of others. But the idea of wage increases all along the line without a corresponding increase in productivity is a delusion. All the people cannot lift themselves by their bootstraps.

UNION DEMANDS

Today, unions in our plants are demanding 52 hours' pay for 40 hours' work. Their demands if granted would result in over 67 hours' pay at present base rates for 48 hours of work where plants are working on such a schedule.

Equivalent or greater demands have been made on our suppliers—the parts manufacturers—the electrical industry—the steel industry—the rubber industry—the oil and gasoline industry—the railroads—in fact, on practically every industry involved in the production of automobiles.

WAGES AND PRICES

General Motors wages are now at an all-time high and are importantly higher than the average wages paid throughout the country for similar work.

The present government stabilization policy

permits wage increases without government approval only if such increases will not result in a request to increase prices. The formula the OPA has proposed for pricing our new products does not recognize or allow all the actual increases in our costs that have been incurred since 1942.

Neither is there any provision in the present OPA formula for increasing prices to compensate for the additional costs that would be incurred if wages and salaries were increased at this time.

A sound and equitable solution must be found in the interests of not only our 400,000 employees, but our 426,000 stockholders, our 15,214 automobile dealers, who have had no new cars for over three years, our 10,000 subcontractors and suppliers and their employees, and the more than 10,000,000 potential customers who are anxiously waiting for new cars and our other products they need so badly.

WARTIME PROFITS

General Motors did not make big profits during the war. Although sales and employment doubled, the average yearly net profit in dollars earned during the war was less than the average prewar net profit. Dividends paid to stockholders averaged less than those paid before the war.

The war profit limitation policy voluntarily adopted by General Motors immediately after Pearl Harbor was so reasonable that the resulting profits were accepted in renegotiation without change by our government for the years 1942, 1943 and 1944.

During the war, Victory Was Our Business.

EXCESS WAGES REFUSED

Demands are being made for higher wages without any corresponding increase in production, on the assumption that the additional costs can be absorbed from profits previously earned or from uncertain future profits.

General Motors cannot use money saved up for many years for the purpose of modernizing and expanding its plants and providing more good jobs, to pay excess wages for work not performed. The money cannot be spent twice.

Neither can excess wages be currently paid from presumed future excess profits when a realistic forecast of costs shows there will be no such excess profits.

Nor can we pay from current income the increased wages demanded when the present OPA policy holds prices to substantially 1942 levels—especially in view of the fact that there have been important increases in wages and operating costs since 1942.

Runaway inflation must be avoided. If an adjustment in price levels must be made at this time, the interests of all the people must be fairly considered.

If wage and salary increases are made, it must be recognized that they increase costs and such costs must be adequately reflected in the prices of products produced.

Internal strife and unemployment must be avoided. Only productive work and more good jobs will increase our standard of living and satisfy the desires of the American people.

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl With Stomach Ulcer Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one which an admirer wrote the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. She would hardly have done this had she suffered after eating pains. Those who are distressed with stomach or ulcer pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloating and other conditions caused by excess acid should try Uga-Gel, a 25¢ box of Uga-Gel, taken four or five times a day. First dose must be taken on an empty stomach and not double your money by taking too much.

TVA's New Kentucky Dam to Be Dedicated by Truman

Huge new $110,000,000 TVA dam, above, at Gilbertsville on the Tennessee River near Paducah, Ky., serving for navigation, flood control and power production, will be dedicated by President Truman in ceremonies Oct. 10. The dam is capable of impounding 2,000,000 acre feet of flood storage, cutting costs of Mississippi River floods from Cairo southward. The lake creates a channel 104 miles long. Three generator units totaling 95,000 kilowatts are operating. Two more totaling 64,000 kilowatts are under construction.

THEY'RE ALL HUMAN
The bulky literature on how to treat the returning veteran has recently been augmented by an analysis by Gen. Jacob Devers. He says, in effect, that servicemen will return to civilian life in better shape than when they left it, and that we should all avoid "cautious, kindly and condescending attitudes" in dealing with them.
With all respect for this distinguished commander, it would appear that he has added just one more misleading generality to the general confusion on the subject. His sweeping assurance seems as over-simplified as the earlier, opposite prediction that every veteran was a potential or actual psychoneurotic.
It should be apparent by now that servicemen are not a race apart. They are just as dissimilar a group of human beings as when they went off to war. That is not to say that there have been no changes. Some have been injured physically or mentally or spiritually. Others are emotionally unharmed. It's obviously impossible to lump them into a class. And stay-at-homes who try to do so, and attempt to mold their attitudes and behavior according to somebody's general prescription, will surely be doing a disservice to some veterans of their acquaintance.

STRICTLY AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT
That four-hour "demonstration" by telephone workers last Friday was, in effect, a new kind of strike.
Actually, it was not concerned with wages or hours or working conditions, or with anything employers had done or refused to do. It appears to have been an out-and-out strike aimed at the National Labor Relations Board, a government agency, because the NLRB is accused of trying to force telephone workers to abandon their independent union and join a CIO affiliate.
Under the circumstances in this case, many feel there is considerable justification in criticism aimed at the federal administration for not acting to prevent this work-stoppage—which, brief as it was, caused a great deal of public inconvenience.
The power and the influence of the president and of congress have been used in similar cases on behalf of the people, and there seemed to be no sound reason why precedent should not have followed in the telephone work-stoppage. Inaction by the administration probably encouraged further displays of the same kind, and once again proves that the federal government is extremely lax in not developing a firm, well-balanced labor policy.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS
The American Automobile Association warns that a large number of automobiles now on the road are in the jalopy class and will not stand much more hard usage—but they are getting it. High speeds will prove devastating to tires which have all seen better days. The age of cars, their bad brakes, bad steering gear, general obsolescence and deferred maintenance are all factors in the accident situation. And the curve of highway accidents is already rising.

The highways themselves, says the AAA, have taken a terrific pounding from war traffic. To these factors add the natural exuberance which follows the release from war pressures, and we can readily understand why there is so much concern over the outlook for highway safety in the period ahead.

It is necessary to keep harping on these matters, it is well, also, to keep constantly in mind the old motto: "Who goes slowly goes safely; who goes safely goes far." Speed, in these days, leads to the hospital.

DISABILITY ONLY PARTIAL
If you were asked how many men and women were rejected as mentally unfit by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, the odds are you wouldn't put the figure as high as 1,825,000, which happens to be the correct answer.

This includes only those turned down in pre-induction tests, and not those who were later discharged for mental, emotional and neuropsychiatric disturbances. The peak war-time strength of the four services without the 1,825,000 is given as 12,440,000. With them it would have been 14,265,000. And 1,825,000 works out to almost 13 per cent of 14,265,000.

Many of the rejected probably weren't particular about the ground of rejection. Even if disappointed, they could take consolation in the fact that their disability was only military, not civil.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK
by Jack Stinnett
WASHINGTON—When all the facts are known, there will be one excellent reason the United States should hold the more important military and naval bases we hold south of Japan.
That is that out of the rubble and bloody, bomb-scarred earth of those islands, the Army and Navy have reared advance bases of a magnitude and completeness undreamed of in pre-Pearl Harbor days.
The Navy has just released a complete description of what the Seabees and Army engineers have accomplished in converting blasted Saipan into what it calls "the finest advance base in the Pacific."
THE facts are staggering. Recall first that Adm. Raymond A. Spruance's Fifth Fleet and its air arm, and then the Marines and soldiers gave Saipan one of the most thorough goings-over of any base on the road to Tokyo.
Now, says the Navy report, the harbor there is the finest in the Marianas. The island's 46 square miles encompasses an inner harbor with anchorage for 100 ships and dockage for 13 deepwater vessels.
Installed on Saipan, too, are five topnotch airfields, vast storage depots, compounds, ammunition and fuel dumps, repair shops, hospitals and dispensaries, and training areas. There are education centers, chapels and a modern communication system with radio stations, a blanket telephone service with a cable to Tinian, and a network of modern highways.
The base is manned by a permanent population of 100,000.
Saipan was the jumping off place for both the Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns. It was raised from the rubble to this most modern of advance island bases in less than a year from the first landings.
Shortly after, invasion dengue fever struck the troops and laid low nearly a third of them at the peak of the epidemic. That was a signal for the Army and Navy doctors to start wiping out the flies and mosquitoes. Ingenious fly traps were constructed and the whole island sprayed with insecticide from low-flying twin engine planes.
SAIPAN, of course, was selected for this rush job as a mammoth base for very good reasons, even aside from its splendid harbor. Strategically, it is known as "the key to the Marianas at the crossroads of the central Pacific." It was also one of the important shields on the southern approaches of Japan.
Saipan cost the armed forces 17,000 dead, missing and wounded, but with the loss of the important base, the Japanese paid a bonus of 27,000 dead.
There would be a nice ironic twist in history if Saipan should become a permanent United States base. The Japanese got it from the Germans in World War I. What is to be done with the big advance bases we have reared to win the war in the Pacific is a problem for tomorrow but it is unthinkable that for some years to come, they will be allowed to go back to rust, rot, the flies and the Japanese.

Taking the girl friend dancing? When you're sitting one out, remember—
Somewhere, 5,000 miles from home, thousands of Americans were sitting it out behind Jap barbed wire—sitting it out in boredom, with only the ragged music in their ears of the clipped shouted orders of the enemy.
Going to a movie? While you're buying your ticket tonight, remember—
Unknown numbers of our boys stuffed into Jap prisons would have paid anything to see a good movie—to catch again the familiar sights and sounds of home.
Just walking the wife and kid around the block, with a soda on the way home at the corner drug store? When you cup your hands to light a cigarette, remember—
American captives dreamed of walking their families down quiet streets, beneath the cool rattle of leaves, with the laughter of their kid's voice beside them in the night.
But the biggest thing to remember is that you can bring them touches of home—and help them escape boredom—by giving to the National War Fund through your own community drive.

Chapter 27

TEN minutes after he left Cobo, Gardner was in Luke Hale's office at the Casa Linda. He stared long time at nothing in particular as he waited for the manager. When he heard his voice in the hall, he absentmindedly started to slide his fingers back and forth over the large lenses of his battered old spectacles. Hale greeted him with an amused smile.

"I never saw a man torture his glasses the way you do!" he exclaimed.

"Half the time I'm not even aware I have them in my hand or on my forehead," Gardner explained hastily. "I think better when I'm fussing with them. I guess I came from Cobo's office to ask your help tonight."

"I thought you were up to something, Gardner. I could almost tell it by the sheen of those everlasting glasses of yours. What have you been doing this afternoon?"

"It's really serious, Hale. Cobo wants every one connected in any way with these two murders to be in your office here at eight o'clock."

"Hmmm. Sounds as if he had a man."

Gardner nodded. "I'd like to tell you all about it—but Cobo swore me to secrecy. He wants my help, however, and after everyone gets into the office this evening, you're to guard one of them. I'm to take another, and his police captain is to watch the windows over there."

Hale gave a long, low whistle, looking as if he expected fire works. Come on, be a good fellow, and give me the low down."

"Can't do it. I'm off now on another assignment from Cobo. That little guy sure moves fast, and he starts. Hale did not miss a touch of admiration in the federal man's voice. Gardner stood up to go. "Cobo's right about not talking things over with any one until the loose ends are snipped off. But I promise you he'll make an arrest this evening. That's net."

"Okay by me. You can't clear this mess up too soon to suit me. This is not so hot for the hotel business. Two murders in five days! With another in the offing! You fellows act fast."

"Why do you say that?" Gardner's voice was wary.

"Because of the attack on Peabody last night. If Clarissa hadn't been coming down the hall, I think Peabody's assailant would have killed him. She probably saved his life by scaring off the guy."

"Would you think the same person was responsible for these murders and for this attempted murder?"

"Looks like it to me, but of course I'm not qualified to make even a good guess."

"Thank God the guessing period in this case is over," Gardner exclaimed fervently.

"Who's coming to the party beside myself and you and the officers of the Key West police department?"

"Suzy Van Tyne, Mrs. Warner, Seth Peabody, and Doctors Waldo and Blair."

"Isn't Delgado coming?"

"Oh, sure. He's coming in his pseudo-official capacity as coroner. That's the line up."

"You mean have her dinner served there?"

"That's it."

Seth was watching him closely. "Won't you answer any questions at all?" he asked.

Gardner shook his head and smiled. "Not now. Later."

"You're getting almost as cryptic as Cobo! Better have a high ball and I'll look after the ladies."

IN a few minutes Seth turned from the telephone and Gardner told him of the plan he had just made with Luke Hale. "I'm afraid you'll have to stagger down to his office, too, as soon as we finish dinner," he concluded. "I can do that all right. I was going down anyway. It's dead-end, being shut up in this room all day. But I wish I knew what was going on."

"You'll know within a couple of hours."

"That's fine. Then Suzy and I will fly right back to New York. If I never see Key West again, it will be too soon for me."

Gardner went over to the table in front of the window and poured himself another drink.

"Say, Peabody," he said, not turning around. "Was Miss Van Tyne wearing her engagement ring last night?"

Seth leaned forward in bed, his voice keen with sudden interest. "I'll say she was! As soon as I was, I saw that ring too, just before I passed out. I was so happy. I didn't care much who conked me on the head. But how did you happen to notice it?"

"Seeing things is my business," Gardner turned slowly and walked back to the bed. "Isn't that the first time Miss Van Tyne has worn her ring in this hotel?"

"As far as I know it is."

"I wonder if she was wearing it at dinner last night?"

"I'm sure I don't know. She had dinner with Delgado, and I had dinner with Wallis Warner. Why?"

"Oh, nothing special. As I told Hale a few minutes ago, the guesser's paid in this case is me. Just to make the record clear, later this evening I'll ask the lady herself."

Jamestown Girl Is Married Saturday To Floyd R. Kuhre

Jamestown Post-Journal—The marriage of Miss Carol Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Wilcox, 269 South Main street, and Pfc. Floyd R. Kuhre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Kuhre of Warren, was solemnized at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Pilgrim Memorial Congregational church.

Rev. Dennis Bouman, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests. The altar, lighted by candles and decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pom-poms, was flanked by palms. Wedding music was played by Miss Florence Sandberg, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess-style gown of white satin, with lace insets, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and a circular train bordered in lace. Her shoulder-length net veil fell from a satin tiara and she carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed white flowers. The handkerchief she carried was the one her maternal grandmother had carried at her wedding 50 years ago.

Miss Audrey L. Wilcox was her sister's maid of honor. Gowned in ice blue satin, she wore pink accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink flowers. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the bride.

Miss Suzanne L. Wilcox, the bride's younger sister, was the flower girl. Her dress of peach tulle was trimmed with net. She carried a Colonial bouquet and wore a locket given her by the bride.

Ralph Sandberg of Warren, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Donald Kuhre of Warren, brother of the bridegroom, and Stanley Wahlberg of this city.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a black velvet suit with which she wore pink accessories and a corsage of white pom-poms. Mrs. Kuhre was gowned in black with a corsage of red roses and pom-poms.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony and later a dinner for the immediate family was served at Levan's. White flowers, white candles and a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, comprised the bridal table appointments. Miss Florence Sandberg was at the piano during the reception, at which Mrs. Roger Forsey, and the Misses Rosalind Jacobson and Maynelle Myers served as aides.

The bride, who will accompany her husband to Long Island, where he is stationed, chose for travel a light blue wool jersey suit and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses and pom-poms.

Private Kuhre expects to be discharged from the Army within a few months and will enter Tri-State College in the Spring.

Among those present at the wedding were guests from Warren and Danville, N. Y.

Pre-nuptial affairs for the bride were given by Miss Audrey Wilcox. Mrs. Roger Forsey, Mrs. J. B. Wilcox and Mrs. Floyd M. Kuhre.

Important Assignment

Having been approved by Alice O'Halloran, RN, director of the state bureau of public health nursing, Lenore Thurston, RN, of 440 Prospect street, has been appointed state public health nurse here to take over the duties of Agnes McLaughlin, RN, who has retired after 21 years of service.

Graduate of Warren High School and of Shady Side Hospital in Pittsburgh, Nurse Thurston was associated with a specialist in Pittsburgh for a time, was employed at the Warren State Hospital and, more recently, has been industrial nurse at Struthers-Wells. She has as her territory Warren and Clarendon boroughs and the following townships: Conewango, Corydon, Cherry Grove, Elk, Farmington, Glade, Kinzua, Mead, Pleasant, Pine Grove, Sheffield, and the Indian Reservation.

Freely lending her hand in getting reacquainted about the county is Miss McLaughlin, again able to be about after a long confinement with broken limbs. Agnes had her training at Warren State Hospital in the days when Amy MacLaren was director of nurses and Dr. Harry Mitchell was superintendent. She followed this with a post-graduate course at Cook County Hospital in Chicago and later did special work at the Leetsdale and Elizabethtown Crippled Children's Hospitals. Her first assignment was to the broadtop section in Huntington and Bedford counties, where she spent two and one-half years. Later work included four years at New Castle, base hospital work in World War I and a busy career in Warren county.

The state nurse's work covers all phases of public health and is under the direct supervision of the state department of health. She does school work in fourth class districts; is the only nurse with access to the registrar's confidential files; conducts the chest and venereal clinics; assists with the child health and crippled children's clinics; lends a hand with maternity cases—anything that pertains to public health.

Dischargees to Be Allowed to Vote on Nov. 6

Warren county intends that its discharged servicemen and women will have their opportunity to vote at the election to be held November 6th. The County Commissioners, who compose the county election board, have discussed the matter and are sending to all election boards in the county the following suggestion:

"If the person discharged on or after September 15, 1945 it is suggested to all election boards of Warren county that a discharged person after being properly identified be permitted to vote on a military ballot."

Most counties in the state are allowing the dischargees to vote but some of them are attaching reservations.

What Endocrine can do to bless you with a younger looking face

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Scientific research has proved that ENDOCREME can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible. Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman young or old ask for her cosmetic dollars? The great majority get big improvement in only 30 days.

Staff Chief Urges Trained Citizen- Army for Country

any training would greatly bolster this country's efforts to obtain world organization.

The only effective defense a nation can now maintain is the power of attack and that power can only be in machinery alone, Marshall said.

He foresaw the possibility of a future war in which the United States might be showered, as southern England was, with rocket-propelled weapons—but new weapons having the explosive power of the atomic bomb.

If this should come to pass, he said, the United States will "bleed and suffer perhaps to the point of annihilation, unless we can move armies of men into the enemy's bases of operation and seize the cities from which he launches his attacks."

The atomic bomb is not the only scientific development making the "possibilities of the future so terrifying," wrote Marshall. And he presented a hitherto secret report by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air forces, to show what has been accomplished.

Arnold said we can direct rockets to targets by electronic devices and other new instruments which "home" in to sources of light, heat and magnetism—breaking unerringly to the hearts of big factories, attracted by the heat of the furnaces.

We are making bombs weighing 5,000 pounds and have 100,000 bombers on the drawing boards.

Within the next few years there will be jet-propelled bombers with 600 to 600 mile an hour speed.

Development of others, operating in the stratosphere at speeds faster than sound "is a certainty" and these aircraft "will have sufficient range to attack any spot on the earth and return to a friendly base."

Weapons such as these make the air approaches points of extreme danger, Arnold said, adding: "With the continued development of weapons and techniques now known to us, the cities of New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, or San Francisco may be subject to annihilation from their continents in a matter of hours."

His second biennial report nominally embraced the period July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1945, but Marshall expanded it to include August 1 when Japan sued for peace.

He wrote Secretary Patterson that "for the first time since assuming this office six years ago, it is possible for me to report that the security of the United States of America is entirely in our hands."

Looking back to the black days of 1942 when Axis expansion was in its flood tide, Marshall said:

"In those hours Germany and Japan came so close to complete domination of the world that we do not yet realize how thin the thread of Allied survival had been stretched."

He asserted that "in good conscience this nation can take little credit for its part in staying off disaster in those critical days. It is certain that the refusal of the British and Russian peoples to accept what appeared to be inevitable defeat was the great factor in the salvage of our civilization. Of almost equal importance was the failure of the enemy to make the most of the situation.

Marshall said that interrogation of Axis high commanders showed the original three members of the Axis—Germany, Italy and Japan—acted individually in directing their own aggression. "Here," commented Marshall, "were three criminal nations eager for loot and seeking greedily to advance their own self-interest by war, yet unable to agree on a strategic over-all plan for accomplishing a common objective."

Marshall listed these steps in Germany's military downfall:

(1) Failure to invade England after Dunkirk.

(2) Failure of the 1941 campaign against Moscow which led Hitler to remove his commander-in-chief, General von Brauchitsch—"the turning point in the war."

(3) Failure of the Stalingrad siege, another Hitler idea.

(4) Failure of the Ardennes counterattack last winter—also a Hitler mistake and his last on the grand scale.

The general said that the Japanese strategic plan included invasion of the Hawaiian Islands and the Aleutians, subjecting the northwest United States to aerial bombardment, raiding west coast aviation industries and then seizing critical areas.

The plan failed at the start, he said, when the enemy did not land troops on Hawaii to deny the United States the launching point for the American advance across the Pacific.

Marshall disclosed that the United States had ready a detailed plan for the invasion of the Japanese homeland, calling for two general operations.

The first was scheduled for this fall, aimed at the southern island of Kyushu. The second, timed for about four months later, was to have put two American armies ashore in the immediate area of Tokyo, on the main island of Honshu.

These were "our plans for final victory in World War II should Japan fight to a last ditch national suicide," the general said.

But "we had other plans which we anticipated might bring a much speedier end to the war"—atomic bombardment by air.

He noted that Japan's surrender offer came four days after the first atomic bomb hit Hiroshima.

BOY SCOUTS

The campfire blazes higher and sends bright, shooting sparks into the circle of boys seated cross-legged on the ground; the scent of pine and an aroma of broiling meat are in the air; the sound of low, young voices harmonizing in favorite old songs echoes through the stillness. America's men of tomorrow are prepared for the future the Boy Scout way!

The local Boy Scout Council's present membership of 1037 consists of 528 Scouts in 28 troops, 137 Cubs in 7 packs, 22 Explorer Scouts in two posts and 350 adults who have "signed up" to render a service to the youths living in the area served by the Council. Many of the older Scouts, now serving their country in the armed forces, are being carried on the rolls as "In Military Service," but are not included in the membership figures.

Due to an ever-increasing membership, three new Scout troops have been organized since January 1 of this year. Several additional prospects are listed for organization before the end of the year, including several Cub packs.

In spite of an accelerated program and wartime service activities, the Scouts continue to make their advancements in rank. Since January 1, 1945, 64 Scouts have been promoted to second class, 24 to first class, 11 to Star, 7 to Life and one to Eagle. This makes a total of 107 advancements and 134 Merit Badges, not including the promotions made by 30 Cubs.

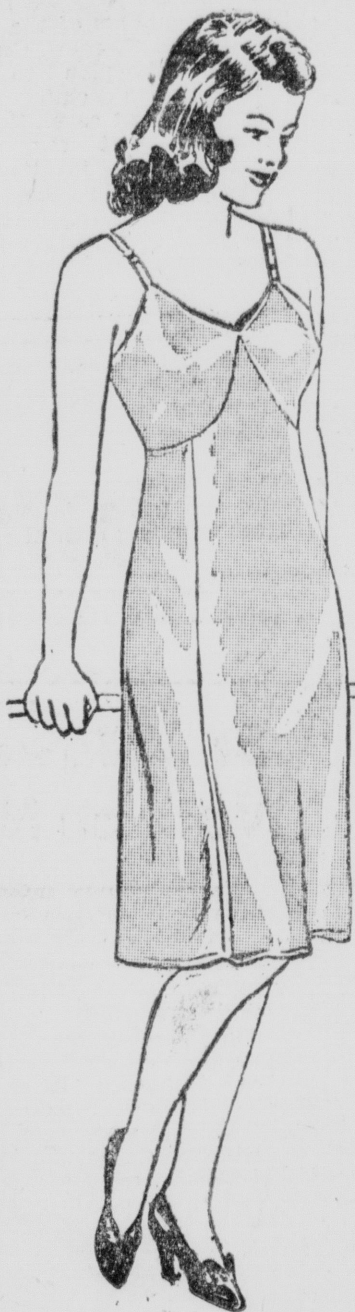

During the March-April General Eisenhower Waste Paper campaign, Scout troops, Cub packs and Senior Units turned in over 120,000 pounds of waste paper. Fifty-nine of the boys were awarded a General Eisenhower Medal for collecting over 1,000 pounds individually. During the Seventh War Loan Drive, Scouts and Cubs sold a total of over $4,000 in war bonds and stamps.

One of the highlights of the Scout year, the Annual Camporee, was attended by over 200 Scouts from 18 troops. Approximately 250 Scouts from 24 troops participated in the nineteenth season at Camp Olmsted.

Today's Boy Scout troops are developing the strong characters, skilled minds and healthy bodies of tomorrow's citizens. Let us insure our country's future with a contribution to the Warren County War Fund.

Newhouser and Borowy Hurl Today's Finale; Detroit's Hitting Against Cub Hurling

By SID FEDER
Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—It is exactly 74 years since the fire Mrs. O'Leary's cow started in Chicago burned itself out, and today another local "hotfoot" finally cools off in the seventh and payoff game of this richest of all World Series.

Now, although there have been some unkind remarks concerning the antics of the Detroit Tiger outfield, there is no cow involved in the current sizzler, in which the Tigers and Chicago Cubs collide at 1:30 p. m. (EST) in Mr. Wrigley's baseball pasture for the whole pot.

Thanks to the "Hanks", both of these ball clubs are still around to tangle for the $70,400 jack pot—the difference between the winner's $211,200.15 and the loser's $140,800.10 from the fanciest players' pool of all time, a gaudy $502.

Rival Bosses

Steve O'Neill, Charley Grimm

Rival managers in the world series are Detroit's Steve O'Neill and Cub Charlie Grimm, who match wits in the final series game today.

857.50 including the radio "cut". Of the total, the two clubs will get 70 per cent, the remaining 30 per cent going to major league clubs which finished in the first division.

Reading from left to right, these Hanks are outfielder Greenberg, the Detroit crusher, and pitcher Borowy, the Chicago ironman.

If Greenberg hadn't been on hand with his big bat, the Tigers might have bowed out of this one in four straight. If Borowy hadn't been on deck to serve them up for the Cubs three times in the first half-dozen scuffles, the Chicago champs might be back on the farm right now.

And today, Borowy, the castoff from the New York Yankees, again warms up his overworked right wing and takes a crack at the toughest iron-man series trick ever tried in a series—pitching in three consecutive games. Only eight throwers ever have won as many as three games in a single of these post-season classics.

And now Borowy, who has allowed five runs and 18 hits in the 18 innings he has toiled, goes out for the third time in four days trying to lock up the Cubs' first world championship in 37 years.

The Cubs beat the Tigers in the 1908 series, four games to one, repeating their 1907 triumph. The last time the clubs met in series play, 1935, the Tigers copped the set by a 4 to 2 margin.

Going to the post, the price is 3 to 2 against Borowy winning. It's not because his enemy elbow—er is Hal Newhouser, the opener Detroit lefty who lost the opener to heaving Hank and then beat him in the fifth game, but simply because the bookmakers don't believe Borowy can pitch his way past Greenberg, the crusher.

With the financial records already shattered all around the place, and the "take" set to rocket well over the million-and-a-half mark for the first time, the chances are today's get-together will also see a new all-time high in the number of customers sitting in on the party.

Through Monday's sixth game, a total of 291,867 fans had been on the merry-go-round, and all reserved seats for this "clinch" were grabbed up two hours after the sale opened yesterday. It's virtually certain that there'll be considerably more than 36,185 members of Gus Fan's family needed to wipe out the 328,061 mark now in the books for 1926 Yankee-St. Louis Cardinals clambake.

Probable lineups for the seventh and final game of the 1945 World Series at Wrigley Field today, starting at 1:30 p. m. Eastern time.

Dragons and Moonmen Clash In Annual Gridiron Battle Friday Night at Jamestown

Warren High's Dragons this Friday night encounter one of the few unbeaten teams in the sector and are in hopes of downing an eleven that has not felt defeat via the Dragon since 1939. At 8:15 Friday evening at the Jamestown Senior High stadium, the J. B. Leidigmen are guests of a powerful Jamestown Red and Green outfit in the locals' second night tilt of the year and Jamestown's third contest.

The meeting of the two teams will continue a rigid rivalry that has existed since 1893. This rivalry moves into its 26th uninterrupted year on Friday night. During the first World War, both schools were forced to drop the annual game because of player shortages and transportation difficulties.

J. B. Leidig, the veteran Warren mentor, has been head coach for 33 of these football years, this season marking his 34th consecutive season as the Dragon gridiron master. His opponent came Friday night, Denton J. Moon, is also a veteran well-known to sports fans throughout this area. Moon has coached Jamestown eleven for a number of years, although his string is not consecutive.

Including the 1919 year, the Dragons have racked up nine victories while their New York state rivals have annexed 16 wins. One game, last season's encounter, ended in a tie. The scores since, and including, 1919, follow:

Year	Warren Jamestown
1919	9 0
1920	26 6
1921	13 14
1922	6 0
1923	7 0

1935	9 0
1936	0 13

FIELD AND STREAM MEET AT COURT HOUSE

Rising Costs May Force Boost In Newspaper Rates

Harrisburg, Oct. 10—(AP)—Shortages and increased cost of newsprint plus rising expenditures for labor may force a boost in subscription and advertising rates, say representatives of newspapers in eastern-central Pennsylvania.

Several publishers disclosed this during a discussion of daily papers' operating problems at a regional conference held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

With some mills cropping newsprint production in favor of more profitable lines, Richard W. Slocom, general manager of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, advised against expanding papers for some time, and predicted the shortage will last through 1947.

Several publishers reported they were planning modernization of their plant, or new buildings.

John Carter, editor of the Lancaster New Era, suggested newsmen should be trained to interpret the news in addition to reporting objectively.

Foreign news related to the maintenance of peace will interest American readers, said John H. Biddle of the Huntingdon Daily News.

William K. Ulerich, associate

publisher of the Centre Daily Times, State College, recommended in a paper read in his absence, that careful study be made before newspapers establish radio stations, and warned that the smaller communities cannot support local stations economically.

Floyd Chalfant, state secretary of commerce and president of the Waynesboro Record-Herald, asked his colleagues to boost their state the way Californians do theirs.

The proposal that veterans be hired as apprentices was offered during a discussion of publishers' plans to re-hire employees who have been in the armed services.

Gen. Charles C. Curtis of the Allentown Call-Chronicle newspapers, just returned from the European theater of operations, where he commanded anti-aircraft troops, told the group he would "be glad to get printers' ink instead of powder in my nostrils."

In the Swedish colony, established on the Delaware in 1638, it was unlawful for people to engage in "untimely singing," "to sing as if they were calling cows," and harsh-voiced citizens were ordered to stand mut or "sing softly."

JAPAN HAS AN ANTI-RUSSIAN ORGANIZATION

Communist Crowds Shout Opposition to Imperial Rule As New Group Assails Reds

PRISONERS RELEASED

Tokyo, Oct. 10.—(P)—Liberated political prisoners emerged from behind the massive walls of four Japanese prisons today to the acclaim of welcoming Communist crowds shouting opposition to imperial rule—while a newly-formed National Federation of Toilers arose to defend the imperial house and assail the reds.

The Japanese navy's chief paymaster, Vice Adm. Ushinosuke Yamamoto, meanwhile disclosed that the navy's impounded fortune of several million dollars was acquired from conquered nations and from the Japanese people themselves, and was paid for abroad in new-worthless military currency and at home in promissory notes which never were redeemed.

Promoters of the newly-created federation resolved to "wage a determined fight against Communism which aims at extermination of our unique national polity under the emperor."

The federation and another group favoring a drastic overhauling of the Japanese diet rose suddenly in uneasy Nippon today as the new liberal premier, Baron Kijuro Shidehara, told his people in a broadcast.

"The hold of the military clique and bureaucrats on political power has been broken and all politics and economies will be determined by the will of the majority."

Sixteen liberated prisoners came through the big wooden gate in Fuchu prison's massive stone wall today to be hoisted immediately to the shoulders of a cheering crowd of 300 Japanese Communists and Koreans.

Shouting "Banzai for the release of fighters of the people's front," the crowd waved red flags and Korean independence flags—then listened quietly while Communist Kiyuchi Tokuda urged overthrow of the imperial system.

"The imperial system is the root of all evils," he asserted. Tokuda spent 18 years in prison for voicing such thoughts—before General MacArthur's directives and Shidehara's new liberality gave him immunity.

Three other prisoners, Kosuge, Toyotama and Tokyo Kochisao, also opened on the October 10 deadline set by MacArthur. Many of their political prisoners had been held without charge for 10 to 20 years, after they had advocated Communism or had spoken against the ruling Japanese government.

The 16 freed from Fuchu heard the crowd sing lustily in the rain what a Korean called "The Song of the Red Flag." The prisoners wore shabby khaki, but appeared well fed. They were taken by automobile to Hibiya Park in downtown Tokyo.

Frau Kramer Is Witness In Trial

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Lunenburg, Germany, Oct. 10.—(P)—Frau Josef Kramer testified under cross examination today that her husband naturally realized that the gassing of concentration camp inmates was "very wrong."

Kramer and 44 guards and attendants are on trial before a British military court for mass killings at Belsen. A defense attempt to inject discussion of the atomic bomb into the hearing was balked by the court which ruled it had nothing to do with the questions at issue.

A small woman, the mother of three, Frau Kramer wore a velvet hat jauntily. She took an oath on the bible. She smiled at Kramer, told of their marriage Oct. 16, 1937, and said she had been with him at all times at the camps in which he was an officer.

300 Telephone Employees At Annual "Get-Together" Held In YWCA Tuesday Evening

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has begun a large state-wide construction and installation program designed to eliminate as quickly as possible its "waiting lists" of applications for telephone service which could not be filled because of war-caused shortages. J. Frank Cox, vice president and general manager of the company, said last night.

He spoke at the annual "get-together" of approximately 300 telephone employees and members of their families in the Warren YWCA. Many employees from this vicinity attended. Horace M. Stevenson, district manager, was chairman.

Mr. Cox pointed out that three different kinds of telephone facilities are required to furnish service. They are telephone instruments, cable or wire to connect telephones to the central office, and central office switching equipment such as switchboards and associated apparatus.

"Shortage of telephone instruments has been one of the principal reasons for our large waiting lists," he said. But, fortunately, this situation is being relieved very rapidly.

"As more telephones become available and we are enabled to reduce the number of deferred applications held for instruments, shortages of outside plant—such as cable and wire—and central office equipment, become controlling factors. Then, the problems to be solved become much more dire."

Ex-Vichy Official Faces Firing Squad

Paris, Oct. 10.—(P)—A firing squad of 172 French soldiers executed Joseph Darnand, former chief of the Vichy militia, at Fort de Chatillon at 9:40 a. m. today.

Darnand was convicted of treason on Sept. 13 by the same court which yesterday pronounced sentence of death upon his superior, Pierre Laval.

A Dominican priest, Darnand's lawyer, a doctor and two magistrates were in the small group which witnessed the execution. Just before the shots were fired, Darnand cried out:

"Vive Le France! Farewell, my militiamen."

One Dead In Auto Crash Near Kane

Kane, Oct. 10.—(P)—A young soldier identified as John N. Donaldson of St. Mary's was killed and two soldier-companions on furlough were injured when their automobile plunged off Route 219 14 miles northeast of Kane today.

The two injured, both from St. Mary's, were Staff Sgt. John A. Miller, 21, and Robert Wilson. They were treated at Kane Community Hospital, Wilson remaining for x-rays for a possible skull fracture.

State police and deputy Coroner Peter Meldrum said Miller gave this story of the crash:

Driving home from Bradford, Miller dozed off while the car was going down a steep hill. Clipping off a string of guard rail posts, the machine hurtled 30 feet over a stream, bounced over a 15-foot embankment and came to a stop upside down against a tree.

"Prepare or Perish" Gen. Marshall Warns Nation in Biennial Report

ARMY REGIME TAKES OVER IN ARGENTINA

Navy Reported Demanding That Entire Government Quit and Turn Nation Over to Supreme Court

SITUATION CONFUSES

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Buenos Aires, Oct. 10.—(P)—The army ruled Argentina today after forcing the resignation of the strong-man vice president, Col. Juan Domingo Peron, but the navy was reported demanding that the entire government quit and turn the nation over to the supreme court.

The situation in stormy Argentina was confused, but this much was clear, Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, head of the military regime, still is president, but he takes his orders from bulky, cigar-chewing Gen. Eduardo Avalos, commander of the big Campo de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires, whose personal quarrel with Peron brought about the military's demand for the resignation of the vice president.

A high navy officer told The Associated Press Peron's resignation alone was insufficient, since it left unsettled the essential problem—the existence of the military government. But there was reason to believe the army and navy could come to terms.

Juan Cooke, Farrell's foreign minister, announced the cabinet would meet today.

The Campo garrison, from whence in June, 1943, Gen. Arturo Rawson overthrew the government of Ramon Castillo, and became Peron's chief support. It turned against him yesterday amid the storm of opposition to his military rule which had been gathering fury for weeks.

At the end of the day the nation still was puzzled over the meaning of the swift change in political fortunes. Some believed it might be the beginning of a return to constitutional government, must take the reins.

Others held that so long as the army retained an iron grip, nothing was changed essentially.

Demonstrations were touched off in many places as news of the resignation of Peron spread swiftly, and there were some clashes between celebrating crowds and police.

Frowning, 53-year-old Avalos, whom Peron himself had elevated from colonel to brigadier general and placed in charge of the Campo garrison, usually took Peron's place, turning the tables on his erstwhile enemy in a behind the scenes struggle for power.

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—Government officials hoped today for indications that the Argentine government had undergone a change of heart—and policy—following the resignation of its "strong man," Col. Juan D. Peron.

However, with the attitude of one who has been "taken in" before, the state department withheld comment pending clarification of yesterday's events in Buenos Aires.

Kentucky Dam Is Dedicated By President

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Gilbertsville, Ky., Oct. 10.—(P)—President Truman voices assurance today the nation soon will "press forward" in the development of all its great river valleys with traditional pioneering spirit.

Speaking at the dedication of the Tennessee Valley Authority's Kentucky dam here, he called TVA "just plain common sense" and added:

"The valleys of America await their full development. The time has come—now that materials and manpower are more plentiful—to press forward. The days of the pioneer are not dead. The development of our natural resources calls for a new pioneer."

SHORT RATION PERIOD STARTS OCTOBER 13TH

Harrisburg, Oct. 10.—(P)—The next ration period for whisky will run from Oct. 13 through Oct. 27, the shortest period since rationing was started in 1943. The present three weeks period ends Saturday.

The ration of 1 1/2 of a gallon to individuals is unchanged but licenses will get 90 instead of 80 percent of pre-war purchases.

Chairman Frederick T. Geider, of the Liquor Control Board, said rationing will continue until purchasers have a reasonable expectation of being able to buy any wanted brand.

No Change Planned In MacArthur's Post

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—The United States has called a meeting of a proposed Far Eastern Advisory Commission for October 23 in Washington, but intends to make no change in General Douglas MacArthur's post as supreme commander in Japan.

Secretary of State Byrnes announced the meeting today, saying that invitations had gone out to nine other governments and that India may be included at Britain's suggestion.

Simultaneously, Byrnes disclosed Russia had suggested that creation of the advisory commission be preceded by establishment of a control council for Japan.

Tunkhannock Lumberjack Found Guilty

BULLETIN
Tunkhannock, Oct. 10.—(P)—Attractive, auburn-haired Mrs. Florence Randall, scheduled to be tried for the murder of her husband, Charles, was released in $5,000 bail today as the commonwealth decided against pressing the charges shortly after he alleged paramour, Kenneth Ferrell, was convicted with a recommendation of life imprisonment.

Tunkhannock, Oct. 10.—(P)—Kenneth Ferrell, illiterate 31-year-old lumberjack, today was convicted of murder and a sentence of life imprisonment recommended by a jury of seven men and five women who heard his trial for the "triangle" killing of Charles Randall last Memorial Day.

The trial of Mrs. Florence Randall, 37, auburn-haired mother of two daughters, on similar charges was scheduled to begin after a short court recess.

Utah Village Is Menaced By Blasts In Mine

Vernal, Utah, Oct. 10.—(P)—Two distinct explosions from the heart of the large Bonanza Gilsonite mine rocked the earth for a distance of 50 miles last night but miraculously spared the 250 residents of Bonanza, isolated mining town near the Utah-Colorado border.

Flames destroyed utility buildings adjacent to the mine shaft and mineral treating plant. Virtually all homes and community buildings of the modern mining town, however, were undamaged.

Residents fled Bonanza when a warning was issued that the entire community faced inevitable destruction. When the mine blaze was controlled most of them returned to their homes.

Ronald Freese, Utah county sheriff, led a volunteer rescue crew of 100 men from Vernal to the explosion scene, 50 miles away. Some heavy timbers from the bottom of the mile-deep mine shaft were showered over Bonanza by the force of the explosion.

Cause of the blast was not determined immediately.

Gilsonite is a black hydrocarbon with a smooth ebony-like surface. Although its properties make its use as a fuel practical, it also serves as a source of fireproof insulation materials. Peculiar to western Colorado and eastern Utah, it has been used for years in the manufacture of high grade paints and varnishes.

Staff Chief Urges Trained Citizen-Army for Country

Terrifying New Weapons to Cope With Menace of Scientific Mass Destruction Require Intense Research

CAN NOW GUIDE ROCKETS ACCURATELY

By ELTON C. FAY
Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—General Marshall cautioned Americans today that a rich nation which lays down its arms in this age of terrifying and fantastic new weapons courts catastrophe.

The chief of staff said the United States should maintain a regular army, national guard and reserve of trained civilians so huge it could mobilize 4,000,000 men within a year.

It should not stint funds for intensive scientific research, Marshall asserted in his biennial report to the secretary of war at a time when methods of attack hitherto unpublished may subject New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago or San Francisco to a rain of annihilation from points thousands of miles from this continent.

Here is what Marshall thinks this country should do:
Provide money and means for continuous research into the military ramifications of man's scientific advance.

Provide a permanent peacetime citizen army built around a corps of men who have received one year of compulsory military training.

Encourage the National Guard—it is "in the first category of importance" in the citizen army.

Maintain a regular army composed primarily of a strategic force, with emphasis on air power, part of it deployed in the Pacific and Caribbean.

Keep the training program abreast of technical developments and the resulting modifications of tactics.

"To prevent another international catastrophe," Marshall declared, "there is no alternative but that this nation must be prepared to defend its interest against any nation or combination of nations which might sometime feel powerful enough to attempt settlement of political arguments or gain resources or territory by force of arms."

In the past, he said, "we have ignored the hard realities of world affairs. We have been purely idealistic."

Marshall insisted that any hope for lasting peace must be predicated on the ability to enforce it with strength. He said the state department believes that a decision now to adopt universal military training would be a step toward peace.

House Group Seeks Speedy Action on Atomic Control

Washington, Oct. 10.—(P)—Congress struggled today to devise firm controls over atomic energy at home and to keep this country in the forefront of scientific discoveries the world around.

A new note of urgency was lent the task by a warning from army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall in his biennial report that the possibilities of the future are terrifying.

Here, on both sides of the Capitol, is how the two-fold problem is being tackled:

1. The house military committee went into secret session under a charge from Clairman May (D-Ky.) to speed action toward setting up a program for control of atomic power.

Specifically before the group is President Truman's week-old request that congress set up a nine member commission to handle all domestic phases of science's new, most sensational discovery.

2. Members of two senate committees called on budget Director Harold D. Smith for an answer to the question of who would have top word in running a projected National Science foundation.

Endorsed by a succession of eminent scientists, the proposal nonetheless has encountered a degree of apprehension among the experts over the possibility that the foundation might get involved in politics. Smith, with his background of experience in dealing with scores of government agencies, was summoned as an expert on administrative problems.

Several days of closed sessions were expected to be required for the military committee to sift the recommendations and highly technical explanations given it yesterday the bomb that blasted Japan today by the men who helped develop the war.

All four witnesses heard during the single day of public hearings unstintingly recommended the legislation asked by Mr. Truman.

NATION-WIDE STRIKE IDLE CUT 42,000

CIO Textile Print and Dye Workers In 284 Shops In Three States Return To Work

418,000 ARE STILL OUT

By the Associated Press
The nationwide total of persons away from work because of labor troubles was reduced by 42,000 today with the settlement of a three-state strike of textile workers.

The reduction left the number off the job in various industries at 418,000.

At the same time Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach was hopeful of ending the critical strikes in the soft coal fields which would enable some 182,000 workers to resume digging in 749 closed mines.

The strike of 42,000 Textile Print and Dye Workers in 284 shops in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania ended with a union-management agreement to a 10 cents an hour wage increase for men and five cents for women.

The wage question cannot be reopened until Nov. 1, 1946.

In the soft coal dispute, which has cut into steel production, the secretary of labor was ready to offer a new compromise proposal to bituminous operators and United Mine Workers officials headed by President John L. Lewis.

Schwelmbach said they should be able to agree.

Lewis' proposal to end the strike if the operators would negotiate on the recognition issue was not fully accepted by the operators who, said their willingness to negotiate would not be taken as any retreat from their position that foremen should not be unionized.

After the chief rejected their counter-plan, Schwelmbach prepared a revised proposal which he hoped would be acceptable to both sides and bring settlement of the 20-day old work stoppages in mine in six states.

Additional steelworkers were forced to quit work because of coal shortages and production in many mills was cut by the closing of blast furnaces and open hearths. Miners off their jobs by the strikes included 75,600 in West Virginia; 58,467 in Pennsylvania; 27,200 in Kentucky; 8,000 in Tennessee, and 5,000 in Indiana.

With no coal to move, 50 trains and 300 employees on the Louisville & Nashville railroad in Kentucky were idle.

New York's crippling port-wide strike of 35,000 to 60,000 longshoremen left the world's busiest harbor virtually idle again today, the 10th day of the walkout in a dispute over a new contract. Thousands of tons of cargo went unmoved as 369 ships were tied up.

On the Pacific coast, 40 ships were idle at piers because of refusal of members of CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards Union to sign up under reduced personnel rule made by the WSA.

Tension mounted in the motion picture industry in Hollywood as AFL strike leaders said picketing will continue indefinitely "until Warner Brothers capitulate or close their studio, x x x"

Clashes between pickets and non-striking movie workers outside the studio have injured 111 persons. Production was halted.

Johnstown Hero Will Be Honored

Johnstown, Oct. 10.—(P)—Lt. Edward A. Silk, so modest he wouldn't even let the townspeople know when he was coming home, will get the Congressional Medal of Honor Friday.

The citation will tell how the 29-year-old ex-steelworker single-handedly wiped out a Nazi fortress in southern France. Armed with only his carbine and hand grenades, Silk went from room to room in a farmhouse stronghold, killing or capturing 17 Nazis.

A member of the 39th Infantry Regiment of the 10th Division, Seventh Army, Silk also holds the Silver Star.

Silk arrived here on terminal leave Friday and is with his wife, a daughter, Judith Ann, whom he saw for the first time, and a son Jerry.

His wife and two sisters will accompany him to Washington for the Congressional Medal presentation.

Returning GI's Evince Interest In Out of Doors Recreations

As evidence that Forester R. F. Hemingway is not "barking up the wrong tree" when he urges Warren business men to provide for accommodation of visitors to this section by providing cabins, cottages and small hotels a recent poll taken by the American Legion Magazine can be cited. In this poll some astounding facts are revealed as to the love of the genuine American for the forests, fields and streams of his native land. And according to it can be pointed out the vicinity that is prepared to handle the great influx to the woodlands will be one that will profit most. And furthermore "the who serveth best will profit most."

It is further pointed out that the great out of doors attracts more money than any other form of sport. Compare with hunting and fishing baseball is a piker and golf is an also ran.

Returning veterans who have been polled by the magazine have voted 70 out of each 100 that they want to go fishing. And 62 of every 100 rate hunting next to fishing as their favorite recreation. Here's the score on the survey percentage-wise:

Hunting 69.33
Fishing 61.87
Swimming 58.04
Baseball 43.01

Football 32.29
Camping 31.61
Motorboating 29.38
Trapshooting 26.87
Skiing 26.05
Golf 22.52
Hiking 19.54
Bicycling 15.47

A score or more other sports are mentioned. Another survey indicates that in the next few post-war years more than 26 million people will hunt and fish, and that their annual expenditures will be something like $4,025,485,000.

There is nothing new or surprising about these figures. Several years ago a magazine of various economic groups from all sections of the country and learned they preferred hunting or fishing to watching sports events of all kinds combined.

The Dayton Miami Valley Outdoors Program was conceived last spring when The Dayton Journal-Herald found 90,000 people checked in at a lake 50 miles from Dayton on the same Sunday that the Reds performed before 80,000 persons in Cincinnati, 50 miles away.

On the same day, there were turnouts of 65,000, 32,000 and 48,000 at other adjacent lakes.

These figures did not include bank shermen on five streams flowing throughout that part of Ohio.

DANGER ON THE PRODUCTION FRONT

How Much Will You Have to Pay for Your New Car?

How Long Will You Have to Wait to Get It?

RECONVERSION BOGGING DOWN

Strikes are threatening the entire automobile industry. General Motors is being specifically singled out for attack to enforce unreasonable demands. Some of our plants have already been closed and shipment of materials from the plants of many of our suppliers has already been stopped by strikes.

The interests of all Americans should be considered. This is not only a General Motors problem. It is a national one as well. If our plants are closed by strikes the strikes will be against the interests of all the people of our country as much as they will be against General Motors.

AFTERMATH OF WAR

While the war is over, the aftermath of war presents big problems. War is terribly wasteful in blood and treasure. This one was especially so. It was not prosperity even though to some it may have seemed to be. And the immediate aftermath of such a war cannot be prosperity either. The clean-up, the mopping-up, the reconversion still require hard work, patience, understanding, and some sacrifice on the part of all of us.

INDUSTRY ON THE JOB

Our fighting men crushed our enemies with the huge quantity of weapons produced by American industry. But that is behind us. We would like to have been better prepared for peace, but the terrific demands of the war for men and materials did not make this possible. Now we have planned a second all-out effort and stand ready and anxious to do an equally impressive job.

PROBLEMS OF RECONVERSION

American industry has proved its ability to perform. It has the know-how, the resources, the courage to push ahead. But even with these fine assets it cannot do the job alone. It must have the goodwill and backing of the people of our country.

Our second all-out effort to meet a critical situation will bog down unless the real facts are recognized and sound measures promptly taken to solve the problems. Temporarily, while we are liquidating the war, there should be a sound national wage-price policy to stabilize and expand the economy.

DANGER OF INFLATION

The most serious threat we face is that of runaway inflation. The danger comes from three sources: first, the wartime and current tremendous deficit spending of our government; second, the pent-up demands for goods and services to the point where some are willing to pay excess prices even in black markets; third, the desires of equally selfish unions to take advantage of the situation and force unreasonable wage increases.

Inflation is the worst of all economic diseases. It reduces the value of money in terms of what money will buy. It reduces the value of the savings of the people. It undermines security. It underwrites depression. It destroys confidence. It creates unemployment. Inflation must be avoided.

REAL PRICES

In a free market and in the absence of subsidies and speculation, the cost of human effort, be it in the form of wages, salaries or other forms of compensation, quickly determines the price we pay for goods.

Higher wages without a corresponding increase in productivity are inflationary. Nothing is gained unless higher wages mean more goods and services, more customers and more good jobs. This requires individual application to the job in hand and technological progress all along the line—better ways of doing all the things that must be done to produce and deliver products to customers at reasonable prices. This takes time.

A minority, by monopoly or by pressure group action, may temporarily profit at the expense of others. But the idea of wage increases all along the line without a corresponding increase in productivity is a delusion. All the people cannot lift themselves by their bootstraps.

UNION DEMANDS

Today, unions in our plants are demanding 52 hours' pay for 40 hours' work. Their demands if granted would result in over 67 hours' pay at present base rates for 48 hours of work where plants are working on such a schedule.

Equivalent or greater demands have been made on our suppliers—the parts manufacturers—the electrical industry—the steel industry—the rubber industry—the oil and gasoline industry—the railroads—in fact, on practically every industry involved in the production of automobiles.

WAGES AND PRICES

General Motors wages are now at an all-time high and are importantly higher than the average wages paid throughout the country for similar work.

The present government stabilization policy

permits wage increases without government approval only if such increases will not result in a request to increase prices. The formula the OPA has proposed for pricing our new products does not recognize or allow all the actual increases in our costs that have been incurred since 1942.

Neither is there any provision in the present OPA formula for increasing prices to compensate for the additional costs that would be incurred if wages and salaries were increased at this time.

A sound and equitable solution must be found in the interests of not only our 400,000 employees, but our 426,000 stockholders, our 15,214 automobile dealers, who have had no new cars for over three years, our 10,000 subcontractors and suppliers and their employees, and the more than 10,000,000 potential customers who are anxiously waiting for new cars and our other products they need so badly.

WARTIME PROFITS

General Motors did not make big profits during the war. Although sales and employment doubled, the average yearly net profit in dollars earned during the war was less than the average prewar net profit. Dividends paid to stockholders averaged less than those paid before the war.

The war profit limitation policy voluntarily adopted by General Motors immediately after Pearl Harbor was so reasonable that the resulting profits were accepted in renegotiation without change by our government for the years 1942, 1943 and 1944.

During the war, Victory Was Our Business.

EXCESS WAGES REFUSED

Demands are being made for higher wages without any corresponding increase in production, on the assumption that the additional costs can be absorbed from profits previously earned or from uncertain future profits.

General Motors cannot use money saved up for many years for the purpose of modernizing and expanding its plants and providing more good jobs, to pay excess wages for work not performed. The money cannot be spent twice.

Neither can excess wages be currently paid from presumed future excess profits when a realistic forecast of costs shows there will be no such excess profits.

Nor can we pay from current income the increased wages demanded when the present OPA policy holds prices to substantially 1942 levels—especially in view of the fact that there have been important increases in wages and operating costs since 1942.

Runaway inflation must be avoided. If an adjustment in price levels must be made at this time, the interests of all the people must be fairly considered.

If wage and salary increases are made, it must be recognized that they increase costs and such costs must be adequately reflected in the prices of products produced.

Internal strife and unemployment must be avoided. Only productive work and more good jobs will increase our standard of living and satisfy the desires of the American people.

THEY'RE ALL HUMAN

The bulky literature on how to treat the returning veteran has recently been augmented by an analysis by Gen. Jacob Devers. He says, in effect, that servicemen will return to civilian life in better shape than when they left it, and that we should all avoid "cautious, kindly and condescending attitudes" in dealing with them.

With all respect for this distinguished commander, it would appear that he has added just one more misleading generality to the general confusion on the subject. His sweeping assurance seems as over-simplified as the earlier, opposite prediction that every veteran was a potential or actual psychoneurotic.

It should be apparent by now that servicemen are not a race apart. They are just as dissimilar a group of human beings as when they went off to war. That is not to say that there have been no changes. Some have been injured physically or mentally or spiritually. Others are emotionally unharmed. It's obviously impossible to lump them into a class. And stay-at-homes who try to do so, and attempt to mold their attitudes and behavior according to somebody's general prescription, will surely be doing a disservice to some veterans of their acquaintance.

STRICTLY AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT

That four-hour "demonstration" by telephone workers last Friday was, in effect, a new kind of strike.

Actually, it was not concerned with wages or hours or working conditions, or with anything employers had done or refused to do. It appears to have been an out-and-out strike aimed at the National Labor Relations Board, a government agency, because the NLRB is accused of trying to force telephone workers to abandon their independent union and join a CIO affiliate.

Under the circumstances in this case, many feel there is considerable justification in criticism aimed at the federal administration for not acting to prevent this work-stoppage—which, brief as it was, caused a great deal of public inconvenience.

The power and the influence of the president and of congress have been used in similar cases on behalf of the people, and there seemed to be no sound reason why precedent should not have been followed in the telephone work-stoppage. Inaction by the administration probably encouraged further displays of the same kind, and once again proves that the federal government is extremely lax in not developing a firm, well-balanced labor policy.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS

The American Automobile Association warns that a large number of automobiles now on the road are in the jumpy class and will not stand much more hard usage—but they are getting it. High speeds will prove devastating to tires which have all seen better days. The age of cars, their bad brakes, bad steering gear, general obsolescence and deferred maintenance are all factors in the accident situation. And the curve of highway accidents is already rising.

The highways themselves, says the AAA, have taken a terrific pounding from war traffic. To these factors add the natural exuberance which follows the release from war pressures, and we can readily understand why there is so much concern over the outlook for highway safety in the period ahead.

It is necessary to keep harping on these matters, it is well, also, to keep constantly in mind the old motto: "Who goes slowly goes safely; who goes safely goes far." Speed, in these days, leads to the hospital.

DISABILITY ONLY PARTIAL

If you were asked how many men and women were rejected as mentally unfit by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, the odds are you wouldn't put the figure as high as 1,825,000, which happens to be the correct answer.

This includes only those turned down in pre-induction tests, and not those who were later discharged for mental, emotional and neuropsychiatric disturbances.

The peak war-time strength of the four services without the 1,825,000 is given as 12,440,000. With them it would have been 14,426,500. And 1,825,000 works out to almost 13 per cent of 14,426,500.

Many of the rejected probably weren't particular about the ground of rejection. Even if disappointed, they could take consolation in the fact that their disability was only military, not civil.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

by Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—When all the facts are known, there will be one excellent reason the United States should hold the more important military and naval bases we hold south of Japan.

That is that out of the rubble and bloody, bomb-scarred earth of those islands, the Army and Navy have reared advance bases of a magnitude and completeness undreamed of in pre-Pearl Harbor days.

The Navy has just released a complete description of what the Seabees and Army engineers have accomplished in converting blasted Saipan into what it calls "the finest advance base in the Pacific."

THE facts are staggering. Recall first that Adm. Raymond A. Spruance's Fifth Fleet and its air arm, and then the Marines and soldiers gave Saipan one of the most thorough going-over of any base on the road to Tokyo.

Now, says the Navy report, the harbor there is the finest in the Marianas. The island's 46 square miles encompasses an inner harbor with anchorage for 100 ships and dockage for 13 deepwater vessels.

Installed on Saipan, too, are five tonotch airfields, vast storage depots, compounds, ammunition and fuel dumps, repair shops, hospitals and dispensaries, and training areas. There are education centers, chapels and a modern communication system with radio stations, a blanket telephone service with a cable to Tinian, and a network of modern highways.

The base is manned by a permanent population of 100,000.

Saipan was the jumping off place for both the Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns. It was raised from the rubble to this most modern of advance island bases in less than a year from the first landings.

Shortly after, invasion dengue fever struck the troops and laid low nearly a third of them at the peak of the epidemic. That was a signal for the Army and Navy doctors to start wiping out the flies and mosquitoes. Ingenious fly traps were constructed and the whole island sprayed with insecticide from low-flying twin engine planes.

SAIPAN, of course, was selected for this rush job as a mammoth base for very good reasons, even aside from its splendid harbor. Strategically, it is known as "the key to the Marianas at the crossroads of the central Pacific." It was also one of the important shields on the southern approaches of Japan.

Saipan cost the armed forces 17,000 dead, missing and wounded, but with the loss of the important base, the Japanese paid a bonus of 27,000 dead.

There would be a nice ironic twist in history if Saipan should become a permanent United States base. The Japanese got it from the Germans in World War I.

What is to be done with the big advance base we have reared to win the war in the Pacific is a problem for tomorrow but it is unthinkable that for some years to come, they will be allowed to go back to rust, rot, the flies and the Japanese.

Report Shows Nurse Is Busy

Presented at the monthly board meeting of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association, the report of the nurse, Nora Eaton, showed that seven new cases during September brought the total now under care to 22.

These are classified as chronic medical 19, with acute medical, post-natal and new-born as one each.

Activities have included 47 office and telephone calls; 87 nursing visits, 10 social service and welfare visits, 2 post-natal visits, 8 visits to the new-born, one night visit and one on Sunday, for a total of 109.

Other work has included assistance with four child health clinics, where ten new babies and eight new children of pre-school age were registered; ten babies were returned for visits and 19 pre-school children paid return calls. Toxoid was given in seven cases and two child welfare home visits were made.

William Penn, the thirty-eight year old founder of Pennsylvania, first landed at Upland, now Chester.

The first telephone in the White House was installed in 1880, when Rutherford B. Hayes was President.

Stepping out tonight?

Taking the girl friend dancing? When you're sitting one out, remember—

Somewhere, 5,000 miles from home, thousands of Americans were sitting it out behind Jap barbed wire—sitting it out in boredom, with only the ragged music in their ears of the clipped shouted orders of the enemy.

Going to a movie? While you're buying your ticket tonight, remember—

Unknown numbers of our boys stuffed into Jap prisons would have paid anything to see a good movie—to catch again the familiar sights and sounds of home.

Just walking the wife and kid around the block, with a soda on the way home at the corner drug store? When you cup your hands to light a cigarette, remember—

American captives dreamed of walking their families down quiet streets, beneath the cool rattle of leaves, with the laughter of their kid's voice beside them in the night.

But the biggest thing to remember is that you can bring them touches of home—and help them escape boredom—by giving to the National War Fund through your own community drive.

For part of this fund supports the War Prisoners' Aid. An agency that sends books, baseballs, grease paint and costumes—anything and everything possible—to help our released prisoners pass the time.

Another part sends medicines to the sick, clothes to the ragged, and new hope to thousands of broken people. It also brings cheer to our boys overseas through the U.S.O., and gives new hope to their families, by providing foster parents for the children whose homes have been disrupted by war conditions.

You buy a share in a better life—and a better future for everybody—when you give to your local community campaign. So give generously, won't you? Share the American way!

COLUMBUS BOY HURT
William Flaus, Jr., of Columbus, age 6 years, who was run over by a wagon Monday on the Baker farm near Columbus, is a patient at Corry Hospital and his condition is reported today as favorable as could be expected but fear is expressed that he may have suffered grave internal injuries. The little lad was rushed to the hospital immediately after the accident and was given emergency attention.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE
W. E. Martz, conductor, and D. L. Courtney, flagman, both of whom were riding in the caboose of the Pennsy freight when the derailment occurred near Johnsonburg Monday, had a narrow escape from injury when the cabin car was rolled over on its side. The coal stove in the cabin, in which a fire was burning at the time, set the wrecked car afire but the two men were not seriously hurt and they promptly extinguished the blaze. Both railroaders are Erie residents.

Chapter 27
TEN minutes after he left Cobo, Gardner was in Luke Hale's office at the Casa Linda. He stared long time at nothing in particular as he waited for the manager. Then he heard his voice in the hall, he absently started to slide his fingers back and forth over the large lenses of his battered old spectacles. Hale greeted him with an amused smile.
"I never saw a man torture his glasses the way you do!" he exclaimed.
"Half the time I'm not even aware I have them in my hand or on my forehead," Gardner explained hastily. "I think better when I'm fussing with them. I came from Cobo's office to ask your help tonight."
"I thought you were up to something, Gardner. I could almost tell it by the sheen of those everlasting glasses of yours. What have you been doing this afternoon?"
"It's really serious, Hale. Cobo wants every one connected in any way with these two murders to be in your office here at eight o'clock."
"Humm. Sounds as if he had a man."
Gardner nodded. "I'd like to tell you all about it—but Cobo wants me to secrecy. He wants my help, however, and after everyone gets into the office this evening, you're to guard one of our men to take another, and his police captains are to watch the windows over there."
Hale gave a long, low whistle. Looks as if he expected fireworks. Come on, be a good fellow, and give me the low down."
"Can't do it. I'm off now on another assignment from Cobo. That little guy sure moves fast, see he starts." Hale did not miss the touch of admiration in the general manager's voice. Gardner stood up to go. "Cobo's right out not talking things over with any one until the loose ends are snipped off. But I promise you he'll make an arrest this evening. That's net."

"Okay by me. You can't clear this mess up too soon to suit me. This is not so hot for the hotel business. Two murders in five days! With another in the offing unless you fellows act fast."
"Why do you say that?" Gardner's voice was wary.
"Because of the attack on Peabody last night. If Clarissa hadn't been coming down the hall, I think Peabody's assailant would have killed him. She probably saved his life by scaring off the guy."
"Would you think the same person was responsible for these murders and for this attempted murder?"
"Looks like it to me, but of course I'm not qualified to make even a good guess."
"Thank God the guessing period in this case is over," Gardner exclaimed fervently.
"Who's coming to the party beside myself and you and the officers of the Key West police department?"
"Suzy Van Tyne, Mrs. Warner, Seth Peabody, and Doctors Waldo and Blair."
"Isn't Delgado coming?"
"Oh, sure. He's coming in his pseudo-official capacity as coroner. That's the line up."

GARDNER found Seth looking very white and tired. The blow on his head had kept him in bed in spite of his valiant efforts to get up.
"Where in thunder have you been all day?" he demanded, as Gardner appeared in the doorway. "What blisters me is that you haven't even telephoned to give me any news. That's a fine way to treat an invalid."
"Sorry, Old Man. But I honestly haven't had a minute. Now before I dig into that Scotch and soda I see before me, I want you to call Mrs. Warner and tell her that she and Miss Van Tyne are to be in Hale's office at eight o'clock tonight without fail."
"What's up?"
"Never mind. You'll get it fast enough later, and then ask her to see that Miss Van Tyne comes in her room from now until eight o'clock."

Jamestown Girl Is Married Saturday To Floyd R. Kuhre

Jamestown Post-Journal—The marriage of Miss Carol Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Wilcox, 269 South Main street, and Mr. Floyd R. Kuhre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Kuhre of Warren, was solemnized at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Pilgrim Memorial Congregational church.

Rev. Dennis Bouman, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests. The altar, lighted by candles and decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pom-poms, was flanked by palms. Wedding music was played by Miss Florence Sandberg, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess-style gown of white satin, with lace insets, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and a circular train bordered in lace. Her shoulder-length net veil fell from a satin tiara and she carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed white flowers. The handkerchief she carried was the one her maternal grandmother had carried at her wedding 50 years ago.

Miss Audrey L. Wilcox was her sister's maid of honor. Gowned in blue satin, she wore pink accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink flowers. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the bride. Miss Suzanne L. Wilcox, the bride's younger sister, was the flower girl. Her dress of peach taffeta was trimmed with net. She carried a Colonial bouquet and wore a locket given her by the bride.

Ralph Sandberg of Warren, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Donald Kuhre of Warren, brother of the bridegroom, and Stanley Wahlberg of this city.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a black velvet suit with which she wore pink accessories and a corsage of white pom-poms. Mrs. Kuhre was gowned in black with a corsage of red roses and pom-poms.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony and later a dinner for the immediate family was served at Levan's. White flowers, white candles and a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, comprised the bridal table appointments. Miss Florence Sandberg was at the piano during the reception, at which Mrs. Roger Forsey, and the Misses Rosalind Jacobson and Maybelle Myers served as aides.

The bride, who will accompany her husband to Long Island, where he is stationed, chose for travel a light blue wool jersey suit and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses and pom-poms. Private Kuhre expects to be discharged from the Army within a few months and will enter Tri-State College in the Spring.

Among those present at the wedding were guests from Warren and Danville, N. Y. Pre-nuptial affairs for the bride were given by Miss Audrey Wilcox, Mrs. Roger Forsey, Mrs. J. B. Wilcox and Mrs. Floyd M. Kuhre.

What Endocrine can do to bless you with a younger looking face

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Scientific research has proved that ENDOCREME can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible. Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL®. This ACTIVOL® is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman young or old ask for her cosmetic dollars? The great majority get big improvement in only 30 days.

Staff Chief Urges Trained Citizen-Army for Country

any training would greatly bolster this country's efforts to obtain world organization.

The only effective defense a nation can now maintain is the power of attack and that power can be in machinery alone, Marshall said.

He foresaw the possibility of a future war in which the United States might be showered, as southern England was, with rocket-propelled weapons—but new weapons having the explosive power of the atomic bomb.

If this should come to pass, he said, the United States will "bleed and suffer perhaps to the point of annihilation, unless we can move armies of men into the enemy's areas of operation and seize the bases from which he launches his attacks."

The atomic bomb is not the only scientific development making the "possibilities of the future so terrifying," wrote Marshall. And he presented a hitherto secret report by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air forces, to show what has been accomplished.

Arnold said we can direct rockets to targets by electronic devices and other new instruments which "home" in to sources of light, heat and magnetism—breaking unerringly to the hearts of big factories, attracted by the heat of the furnaces.

We are making bombs weighing 5,000 pounds and have 100,000 pounds on the drawing boards. Within the next few years there will be jet-propelled bombers with 600 to 800 mile an hour speed.

Development of others, operating in the stratosphere at speeds faster than sound "is a certainty" and these aircraft "will have sufficient range to attack any spot on the earth and return to a friendly base."

Weapons such as these make the air approaches points of extreme danger, Arnold said, adding: "With the continued development of weapons and techniques now known to us, the cities of New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, or San Francisco may be subject to annihilation from their continents in a matter of hours."

His second biennial report normally embraced the period July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1945, but Marshall expanded it to include August 1 when Japan sued for peace.

He wrote Secretary Patterson that "for the first time since assuming this office six years ago, it is possible for me to report that the security of the United States of America is entirely in our hands."

Looking back to the black days of 1942 when Axis expansion was at its flood tide, Marshall said: "In those hours Germany and Japan came so close to complete domination of the world that we do not yet realize how thin the thread of Allied survival had been stretched."

He asserted that "in good conscience this nation can take little credit for its part in staving off disaster in those critical days. It is certain that the refusal of the British and Russian peoples to accept what appeared to be inevitable defeat was the great factor in the salvage of our civilization. Of almost equal importance was the failure of the enemy to make the most of the situation.

Marshall said that interrogation of Axis high commanders showed the original three members of the Axis—Germany, Italy and Japan—acted individually in directing their own aggression.

"Here," commented Marshall, "were three criminal nations eager for loot and seeking greedily to advance their own self-interest by war, yet unable to agree on a strategic over-all plan for accomplishing a common objective."

Marshall listed these steps in Germany's military downfall:

(1) Failure to invade England after Dunkirk.

(2) Failure of the 1941 campaign against Moscow which led Hitler to remove his commander-in-chief, General von Brauchitsch—"the turning point in the war."

(3) Failure of the Stalingrad siege, another Hitler idea.

(4) Failure of the Ardennes counterattack last winter—also a Hitler mistake and his last on the grand scale.

The general said that the Japanese strategic plan included invasion of the Hawaiian Islands and the Aleutians, subjecting the northwest United States to aerial bombardment, raiding west coast aviation industries and then seizing critical areas.

The plan failed at the start, he said, when the enemy did not land troops on Hawaii to deny the United States the launching point for the American advance across the Pacific.

Marshall disclosed that the United States had ready a detailed plan for the invasion of the Japanese homeland, calling for two general operations.

The first was scheduled for this fall, aimed at the southern island of Kyushu. The second, timed for about four months later, was to have put two American armies ashore in the immediate area of Tokyo, on the main island of Honshu.

These were "our plans for final victory in World War II should Japan fight to a last ditch national suicide," the general said.

But "we had other plans which we anticipated might bring a much speedier end to the war"—atomic bombardment by air.

He noted that Japan's surrender offer came four days after the first atomic bomb hit Hiroshima.

BOY SCOUTS

The campfire blazes higher and sends bright, shooting sparks into the circle of boys seated cross-legged on the ground; the scent of pine and an aroma of broiling meat are in the air; the sound of low, young voices harmonizing in favorite old songs echoes through the stillness. America's men of tomorrow are prepared for the future the Boy Scout way!

The local Boy Scout Council's present membership of 1037 consists of 528 Scouts in 28 troops, 137 Cubs in 7 packs, 22 Explorer Scouts in two posts and 350 adults who have "signed up" to render a service to the youths living in the area served by the Council. Many of the older Scouts, now serving their country in the armed forces, are being carried on the rolls as "In Military Service," but are not included in the membership figures.

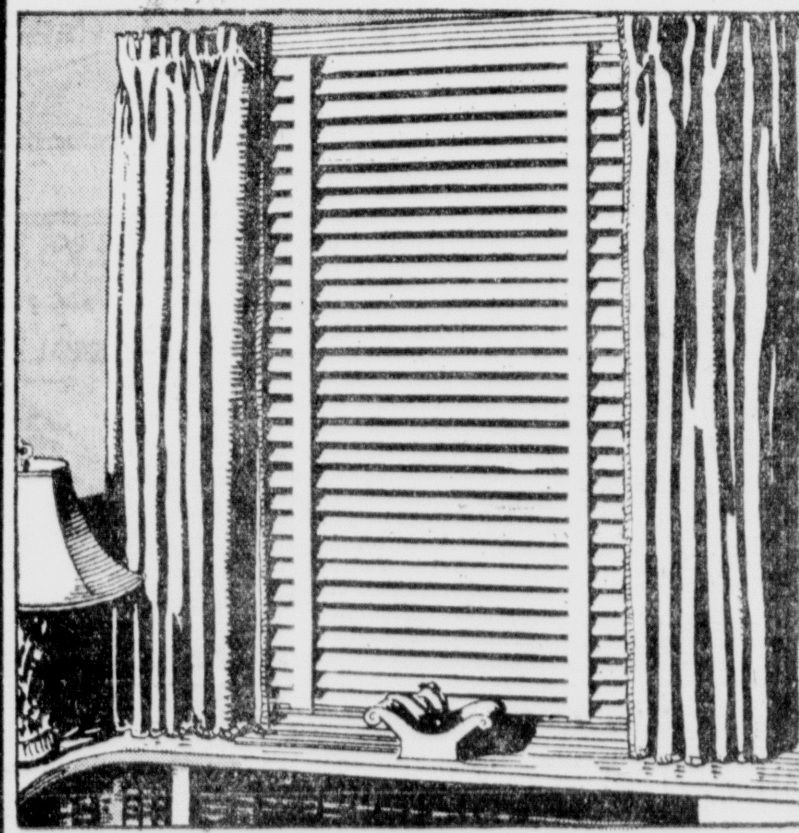

Due to an ever-increasing membership, three new Scout troops have been organized since January 1 of this year. Several additional prospects are listed for organization before the end of the year, including several Cub packs.

In spite of an accelerated program and wartime service activities, the Scouts continue to make their advancements in rank. Since January 1, 1945, 64 Scouts have been promoted to second class, 24 to first class, 11 to Star, 7 to Life and one to Eagle. This makes a total of 107 advancements and 134 Merit Badges, not including the promotions made by 30 Cubs.

During the March-April General Eisenhower Waste Paper campaign, Scout troops, Cub packs and Senior Units turned in over 120,000 pounds of waste paper. Fifty-nine of the boys were awarded a General Eisenhower Medal for collecting over 1,000 pounds individually. During the Seventh War Loan Drive, Scouts and Cubs sold a total of over $4,000 in war bonds and stamps.

One of the highlights of the Scout year, the Annual Camporee, was attended by over 200 Scouts from 18 troops. Approximately 250 Scouts from 24 troops participated in the nineteenth season at Camp Olmsted.

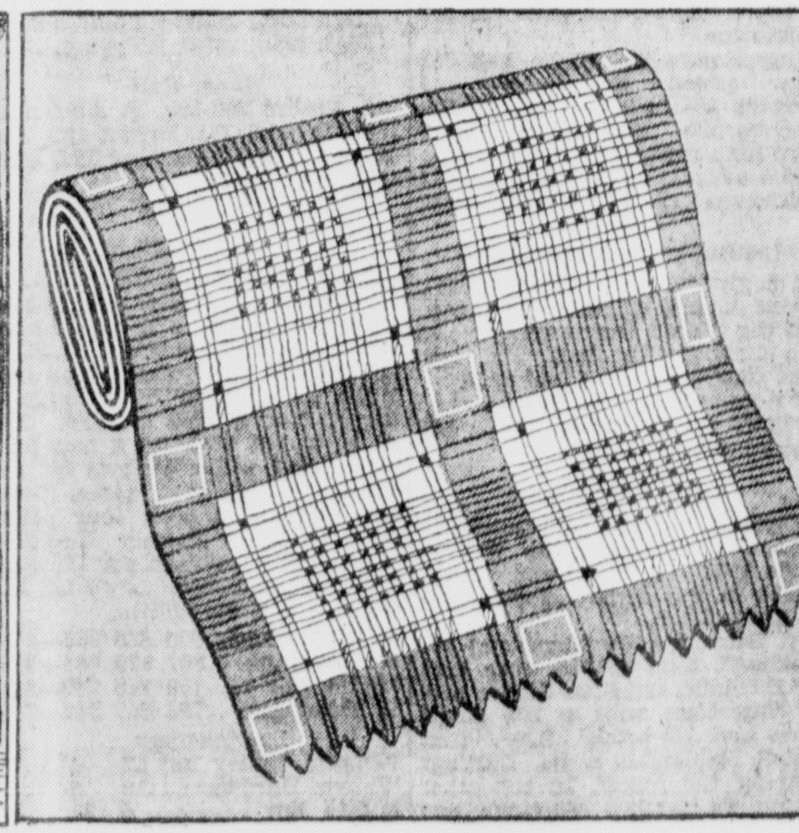

Today's Boy Scout troops are developing the strong characters, skilled minds and healthy bodies of tomorrow's citizens. Let us insure our country's future with a contribution to the Warren County War Fund.

Newhouser and Borowy Hurl Today's Finale; Detroit's Hitting Against Cub Hurling

By SID FEDER
Chicago, Oct. 10.—(P)—It is exactly 74 years since the fire Mrs. O'Leary's cow started in Chicago burned itself out, and today another local "hotfoot" finally cools off in the seventh and payoff game of the richest of all World Series.

Now, although there have been some unkind remarks concerning the antics of the Detroit Tiger outfield, there is no cow involved in the current sizzler, in which the Tigers and Chicago Cubs collide at 1:30 p. m. (EST) in Mr. Wrigley's baseball pasture for the whole pot.

Thanks to the "Hanks", both of these ball clubs are still around to tangle for the $70,400 jack pot—the difference between the winners' $211,200.15 and the losers' $140,800.10 from the fanciest players' pool of all time, a gaudy $502,000.

Rival Bosses

Steve O'Neill

Rival managers in the world series are Detroit's Steve O'Neill and Cub Charlie Grimm, who match wits in the final series game today.

337.50 including the radio "cut". Of the total, the two clubs will get 70 per cent, the remaining 30 per cent going to major league clubs which finished in the first division.

Reading from left to right, these Hanks are outfielder Greenberg, the Detroit crusher, and pitcher Borowy the Chicago ironman.

If Greenberg hadn't been on hand with his big bat, the Tigers might have bowed out of this one in four straight. If Borowy hadn't been on deck to serve them up for the Cubs three times in the first half-dozen scuffles, the Chicago champs might be back on the farm right now.

And today, Borowy, the castoff from the New York Yankees, again warms up his overworked right wing and takes a crack at the toughest iron-man series trick ever tried in a series—pitching three consecutive games. Only eight throwers ever have won as many as three games in a single of these post-season classics.

And now Borowy, who has allowed five runs and 18 hits in the 18 innings he has toiled, goes out for the third time in four days trying to lock up the Cubs' first world championship in 37 years.

The Cubs beat the Tigers in the 1908 series, four games to one, repeating their 1907 triumph. The last time the clubs met in series play, 1935, the Tigers copped the set by a 4 to 2 margin.

Going to the post, the price is 3 to 2 against Borowy winning. It's not because his enemy elbow is Hal Newhouser, the fancy Detroit lefty who lost the opener to heaving Hank and then beat him in the fifth game, but simply because the bookmakers don't believe Borowy can pitch his way past Greenberg, the crusher.

With the financial records already shattered all around the place, and the "take" set to rocket well over the million-and-a-half mark for the first time, the chances are today's get-together will also see a new all-time high in the number of customers sitting in on the party.

Through Monday's sixth game, a total of 291,867 fans had been on the merry-go-round, and all reserved seats for this "clinger" were grabbed up two hours after the sale opened yesterday. It's virtually certain that there'll be considerably more than 36,185 members of Gus Fan's family needed to wipe out the 328,051 mark now in the books for 1925 Yankee-St. Louis Cardinals clambake.

Probable lineups for the seventh and final game of the 1945 World Series at Wrigley Field today, starting at 1:30 p. m. Eastern time.

Dragons and Moonmen Clash In Annual Gridiron Battle Friday Night at Jamestown

Warren High's Dragons this Friday night encounter one of the few unbeaten teams in the sector and are in hopes of downing an eleven that has not felt defeat via the Dragon since 1939. At 8:15 Friday evening at the Jamestown Senior High stadium, the J. B. Leidenmeyer is guests of a powerful Jamestown Red and Green outfit in the locals' second night tilt of the year and Jamestown's third contest.

The meeting of the two teams will continue a rigid rivalry that has existed since 1893. This rivalry moves into its 26th uninterrupted year on Friday night. During the first World War, both schools were forced to drop the annual game because of player shortages and transportation difficulties.

J. B. Leidenmeyer, the veteran Warren mentor, has been head coach for 33 of these football years, this season marking his 34th consecutive season as the Dragon gridiron master. His opponent come Friday night, Denton J. Moon, is also a veteran well-known to sports fans throughout this area. Moon has coached Jamestown eleven for a number of years, although his string is not consecutive.

Including the 1919 year, the Dragons have racked up nine victories while their New York state rivals have annexed 16 wins. One game, last season's encounter, ended in a tie. The scores since, and including, 1919, follow:

Year	Warren Jamestown
1919	9 0
1920	26 6
1921	13 14
1922	6 0
1923	7 0
1924	34 0
1925	0 13
1926	0 19
1927	0 12
1928	20 8
1929	0 27
1930	0 12
1931	6 40
1932	6 13
1933	0 26
1934	6 13
1935	9 0
1936	0 13
1937	0 6
1938	31 12
1939	26 6
1940	0 19
1941	7 20

1942	0 24
1943	6 0
1944	0 0
1945	7 7
Total score	212 320

The Moonmen have a 2-0 record this season, boasting wins over Lakewood and Dunkirk. Sparkplug for the Red and Green outfit will be George Caccamise, heavy backfield man. Moon will be unable to use regular quarterback Harold Foster due to the post-graduate ruling.

The Dragon aspirants have a perfect 500 average. After getting off to a bad start, the Leidenmeyer proteges are appearing in top form, paced by the triple threat action of quarter Louis Bonace. The Blue and Whites have wins over Youngsville, Kane, and Titusville, but show losses to Academy, Franklin, and DuBois. The Warren-Oil City fracas resulted in a 6-6 deadlock.

Admission prices for Friday's 8:15 starter will be thirty-five cents for students and sixty cents for adults. Reserved seats are an additional thirty cents. Tickets are now on sale at the High School here.

The Warren Dragon football band, under the leadership of bandmaster Harry Summers, will appear at the game and will do a joint exhibition at half time with the Jamestown band.

FIELD AND STREAM MEET AT COURT HOUSE

All members of the Warren Field and Stream Club and friends who plan to attend the regular club meeting Thursday at seven-thirty are reminded that the meeting will be held in the Court House, not in the YMCA. George H. Wirt, renowned member of the state forestry department, will be the speaker.

William Penn set aside a space in central Philadelphia on which Indian Chiefs coming to the city could tether their horses and pitch their tents. The site is still reserved, complete with hitching posts for ponies, in the Walnut Street shopping district.

Rising Costs May Force Boost In Newspaper Rates

Harrisburg, Oct. 10—(AP)—Shortages and increased cost of newsprint plus rising expenditures for labor may force a boost in subscription and advertising rates, say representatives of newspapers in eastern-central Pennsylvania.

Several publishers disclosed this during a discussion of daily papers' operating problems at a regional conference held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

With some mills cropping newsprint production in favor of more profitable lines, Richard W. Slom, general manager of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, advised against expending papers for some time, and predicted the shortage will last through 1947.

Several publishers reported they were planning modernization of their plant, or new buildings.

John Carter, editor of the Lancaster New Era, suggested news-men should be trained to interpret the news in addition to reporting objectively.

Foreign news related to the maintenance of peace will interest American readers, said John H. Biddle of the Huntingdon Daily News.

William K. Ulerich, associate

publisher of the Centre Daily Times, State College, recommended in a paper read in his absence, that careful study be made before newspapers establish radio stations, and warned that the smaller communities cannot support local stations economically.

Floyd Chalfant, state secretary of commerce and president of the Waynesboro Record-Herald, asked his colleagues to boost their state the way Californians do theirs.

The proposal that veterans be hired as apprentices was offered during a discussion of publishers' plans to re-hire employees who have been in the armed services.

Gen. Charles C. Curtis of the Allentown Call-Chronicle newspapers, just returned from the European theater of operations, where he commanded anti-aircraft troops, told the group he would "be glad to get printers' ink instead of powder in my nostrils."

In the Swedish colony, established on the Delaware in 1638, it was unlawful for people to engage in "untimely singing," "to sing as if they were calling cows," and harsh-voiced citizens were ordered to stand mut or "sing softly."

DONALD TRAUB TO BE REASSIGNED

Cpl. Donald Traub left Sunday morning for Indiantown Gap for reassignment after a 45-day furlough in Warren. He spent 13 months of overseas service in the European theatre and wears five battle stars, the Presidential Citation badge and one Oak Leaf Cluster, a French citation, the Good Conduct ribbon and two gold stripes for a year's service overseas.

HENRY PUTNAM IS HONORABLY DISCHARGED

Four years and four days of service ended for S/Sgt. Henry Putnam, of Grand Valley, on September 25, when he received his discharge papers at Fort Devens, Mass. The soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Putnam, of Grand Valley, had just returned from the Philippines with 108 points and one wears seven overseas bars as the result of three and one half years abroad. He has the Good Conduct Medal, the American Defense ribbon, Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific theatre ribbon with three battle stars and the Philippine Liberation ribbon with one star. He was inducted September 22, 1941, trained in the infantry at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and went to the Panama Canal Zone before going to the Pacific. While in the Zone, he served as an honor guard to the president of Peru and to the governor general of Australia, serving almost constantly with 2nd Lt. John College, of Titusville.
